Flawless Apollo 13 Speeds to Moon

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP)—Apollo 13's astronauts today sped quietly and flawlessly toward a Tuesday rendezvous with the moon while ground controllers tracked a rocket stage headed for an explosive impact on the lunar surface.

James A. Lovell Jr., Fred W. Haise Jr. and John L. Swigert Jr. retired early today for 10 hours rest. Mission Control planned to let them sleep until later this afternoon.

Medics reported that Lovell, the only one of the three wired for medical monitoring, slept soundly.

Trailing about 90 miles behind Apollo 13 was the third stage of the Saturn 5 rocket that hoisted the astronauts away from planet earth Saturday.

Signals from the ground shifted the 61-foot stage to a collision course with the moon. Mission Control said tracking data today shows it will strike the surface about 8:10 p.m. (EST) Tuesday about 105 miles west of a seismometer left on the moon by the Apollo 12 astronauts in November.

That is about half an hour after Apollo 13 is to fire into moon orbit. The astronauts won't see the impact because they will be on the far side of the moon.

Seismic experts estimate the 15-ton stage will smash with a force equal to 11 tons of TNT, and that it will gouge a crater 100-120 feet deep. The resulting tremors, recorded by the seismometer, should tell scientists much about the internal structure of the moon.

The spacemen were relaxing on the three-day outward journey in preparation for four gruelling days in the vicinity of the moon. Preparation for Wednesday's lunar landing begins tonight when Lovell and Haise crawl through a connecting tunnel to inspect the lunar craft they call Aquarius.

They'll check communications, propulsion and other systems to make sure the spindly legged lander is ready for the difficult and dangerous descent to the moon's ancient Fra Mauro highlands Wednesday night.

In this rugged area on the eastern shore of the Ocean of Storms, Lovell and Haise plan to deploy a nuclear-powered science station, drill 10 feet beneath the lunar crust and trek nearly two miles on a geology field trip. They hope to gather rocks dating back some five billion years to the creation of the moon.

The astronauts zipped past the halfway mark—128,000 miles from both earth and moon—Sunday and fired a brief burst of their spaceship engine to shift course slightly and zero in on a spot 70 miles above the lunar surface. They hope to hit that bull's-eye and fire into lunar orbit at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

The otherwise uneventful day Sunday was enlivened when Swigert suddenly realized to the amusement of his fellow crewmen that—in the last-minute rush to climb aboard Apollo 13 in place of measles-menaced Thomas K. Mattingly—he had forgotten to file his 1969 income tax return and had left part of his flight plans behind.

The flight information was later radioed to him from Mission Control.

The two-second engine ignition occurred during a 50-minute telecast beamed to Mission Control in Houston. The camera focused on an instrument panel and viewers on earth saw the sudden jolt on monitoring screens.

Lovell, Haise and Swigert started the telecast with an out-the-window view of the moon—early three-quarters in shadow.

Their target appeared to be enveloped in a snow storm when the astronauts dumped waste water from the spacecraft fuel cells overboard. The water turned quickly to ice crystals which blew like a blizzard outside the window, with the moon in the background.

The camera panned around the cabin as the astronauts showed some aspects of life in their faraway, weightless world.

Swigert demonstrated the operation of optical equipment used in steering by the stars.

Haise zipped himself into a sleeping bag-like hammock slung beneath the couches to show how they can sleep without floating away.

Lovell demonstrated the futility of combing his hair in weightlessness. After he ran a comb through it, his hair stood straight up.

The ground commented on Lovell's beard and the commander replied: "We thought we'd take care of our beards tomorrow and make that one of our daily routines."

The telecast was not picked up live by the television networks, but was taped and parts were shown on later news programs.

Commander Lovell assured friends of Swigert that all is well when he relayed a picture of the smiling bachelor with the comment: "I thought we'd get a picture of Jack just so all the girls would know he's still up here."

In addition to forgetting his income tax, Swigert reported he had left a card at Cape Kennedy which listed experiment deletions from the flight plan.

The deletions, mainly of scientific photographic assignments, were ordered by space agency officials because Swigert is less familiar with the experiments than Mattingly had been.

At one point, Swigert asked about some symbols related to a photography experiment in the flight plan. Mattingly took over the control center microphone to explain and received a "thank you" from his substitute.

During the quiet hours, Swigert studied his solo lunar orbit duties and Lovell and Haise reviewed maps of the Fra Mauro area.

In Outer Space-- Income Tax and Pinpoint Drop

SPACE CENTER, HOUSTON (UPI)—The U.S. space agency is waiting to see if the pinpoint touchdown of the second moon landing mission can be duplicated, even though Apollo 13's target is more difficult to hit.

Apollo 12's moonwalkers landed so close to an old Surveyor robot spaceship that they walked over and ripped off parts to bring home.

"When you talk about pinpoint landings, it's rather difficult to imagine doing anything better than landing next to the Surveyor," said Thomas K. Mattingly, discussing Apollo 13's objectives prior to launch.

Unfortunately, because he was exposed to measles, Mattingly will not have a chance to help achieve those objectives.

Improving on 'Pinpoint'

"We won't say that we didn't have a possibility to do pinpoint landings," he said. "But what we are going to do is improve the reliability in our pinpoint landings."

The theory of getting a spaceship out of orbit and to a particular point on the ground is simple —just make sure the spot and the spaceship arrive at the same point in space at the same time, since both of them are moving.

But in practice it is not so simple. Every movement inside the spacecraft—and especially any unscheduled rocket thrusts —gives the moon lander velocity nobody planned for.

Apollo 11 overshot its target by a wide margin. But Apollo 12, planners had pretty much figured out how to avoid this. On the current mission they want to prove their accuracy.

Every Movement Counts

It is a little like trying to walk a straight line in a crowd. You have to allow for the unexpected bumps.

Since James A. Lovell and Fred W. Haise are flying into the roughest area yet, they want a little more time to hover above their landing site to try to avoid bolders and chuckholes.

Meanwhile, John L. Swigert Jr. forgot to file his income tax return. And when he finally remembered he forgot, it was too late to do anything except beg for an extension.

Apollo 13 astronaut Swigert will not return to earth and income tax until six days after the April 15 deadline.

"I may be spending time in another quarantine besides the one they are planning for me," Swigert said.

Swigert, the last-minute replacement for Thomas K. Mattingly, underwent some quick examinations and was cleared to fly. With all the rush, the question of income tax returns was shuffled to the back of Swigert's mind —until he was nearly halfway to the moon.

The realization came when ground control was reading Swigert and his fellow astronauts James A. Lovell and Fred W. Haise the Sunday news.

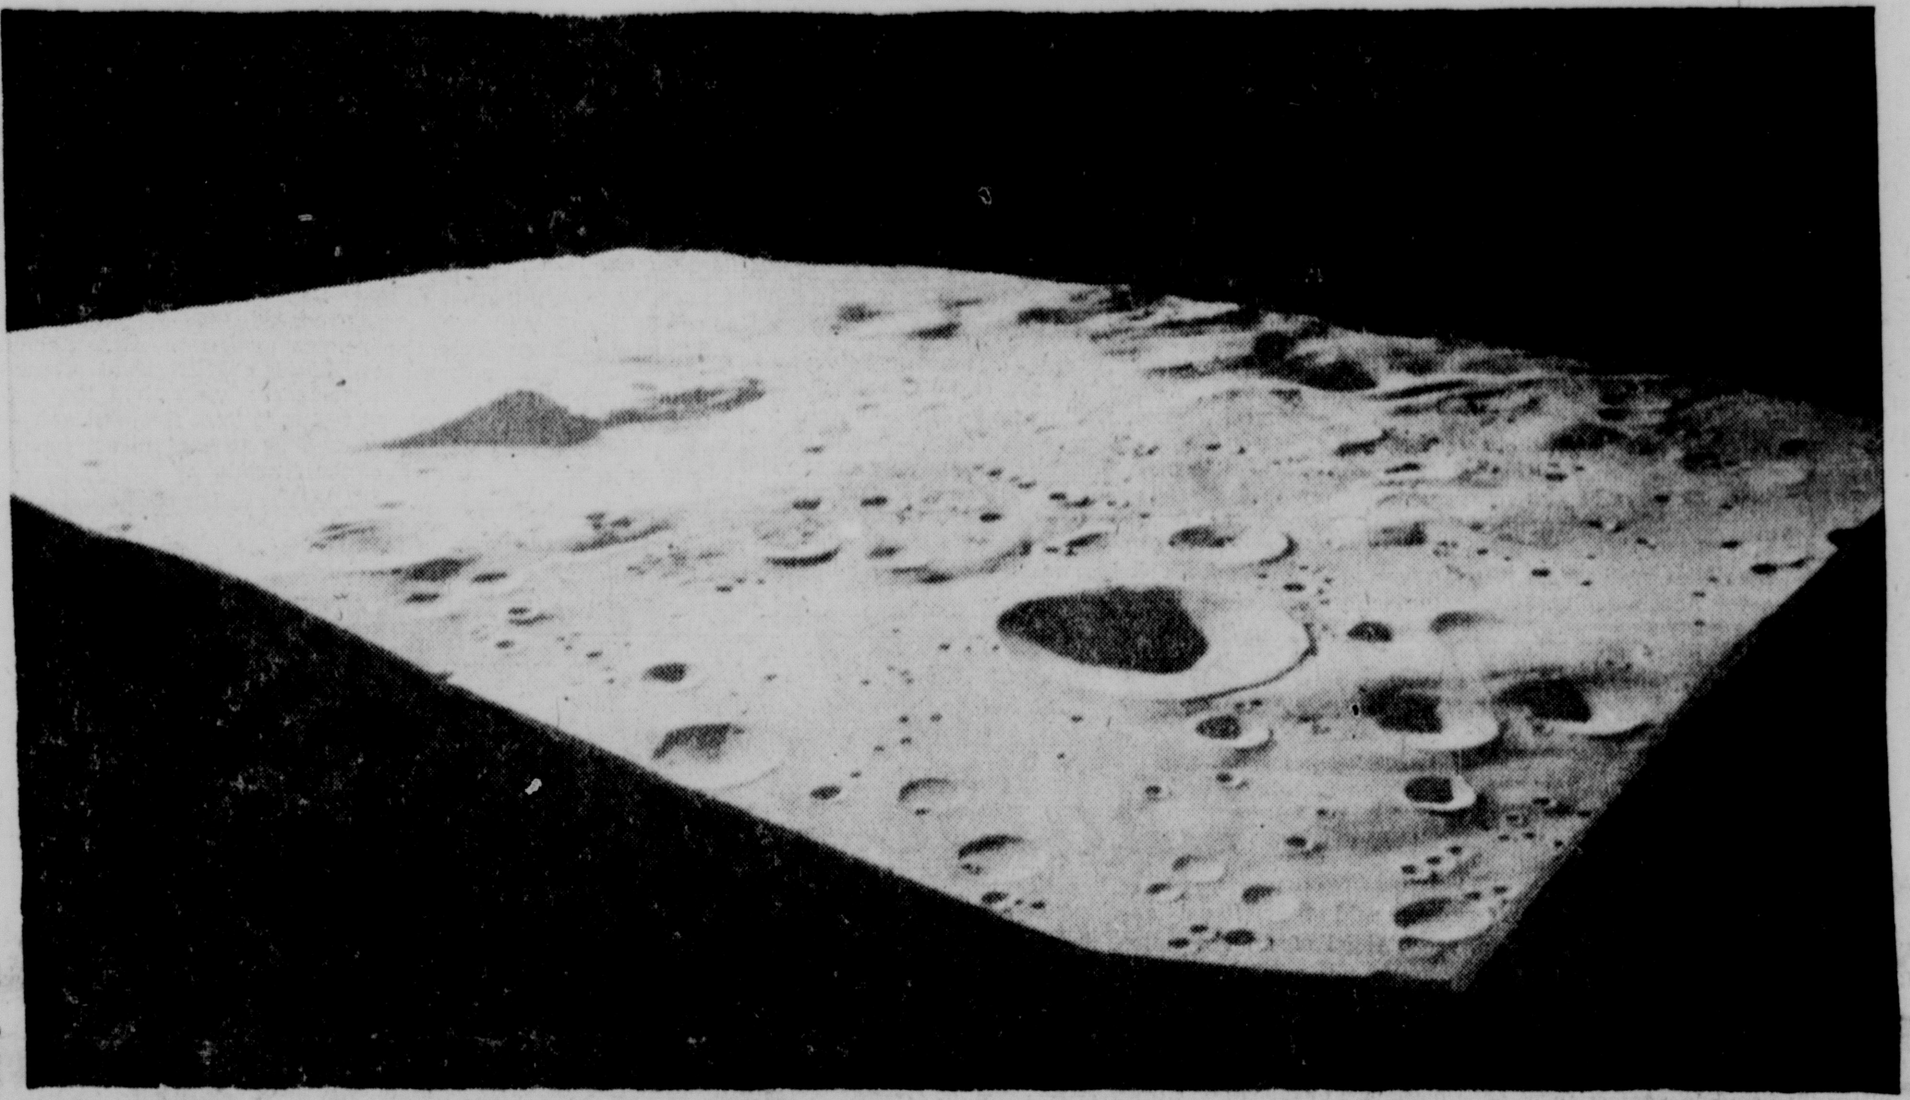
"Today's favorite pasttime across the United States. . .Oh, oh, have you guys completed your income tax?"

"How do I apply for an extension?" Lovell asked jokingly.

"That isn't too funny," said Swigert, suddenly remembering. "Things started happening real fast down here (before the launch) and I. . .I do need an extension."

The Internal Revenue Service came to Swigert's rescue. In Washington, a tax agent found an escape clause which said persons outside the United States on April 15 get an automatic 60-day extension. The spokesman presumed the definition could be stretched to include outer space.

On the scientific front Apollo 13 will conduct several new experiments in lunar orbit including an attempt to prove the existence of a point in space where gravitational forces are in delicate equilibrium.



THE TARGET — This partial slice of the Fra Mauro site indicates where the Apollo 13 astronauts — now more than halfway to the moon aboard their spaceship Odessey — should land Wednesday. The ridge seen to the left center has been dubbed "cone crater" by the astronauts. This display was constructed by the U.S. Army Topographic Command. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Kirk Capitulates---And Desegregation Goes Ahead

BRADENTON, Fla. (UPI)—Superintendent Jack Davidson regained command of Manatee County's schools today and prepared to implement a desegregation plan Gov. Claude Kirk tried for a week to block.

Tuesday morning, 27,000 elementary school students and 107 teachers in Manatee will attend desegregated schools and many of the students will be bused long distances past their neighborhood schools.

Davidson resumed command of the system after Kirk backed being bounced first one way then another."

down in the face of a federal court contempt citation and an order to pay a $10,000 fine for every day he defied court orders to desegregate Manatee schools.

"The events of the past week may very well make it more difficult to accept the desegregation plan," Davidson said today. "But at this point, it is the law."

Davidson, who was suspended by Kirk twice last week, said he "felt like a human checker

Kirk backed down from a head-on clash with the federal court in a statewide television broadcast Sunday in which he said "to disobey the district court's injunction and to pay a fine would not solve the problem."

Kirk flew to New Orleans early today to seek to intervene in an appeal of the Manatee County desegregation order which is currently pending before the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals.

In his television address Sunday, Kirk announced he was reinstating Davidson and the county school board and ordering them to implement the desegregation plan on Tuesday.

The governor said he was ending his control of schools in Manatee, a Gulf Coast county just south of Tampa, because the U.S. Justice Department had agreed to help him seek modification of the plan that requires busing of an additional 2,600 pupils.

In Washington a Justice Department spokesman said the department had agreed only to seek more study of the desegregation plan ordered by U.S. Dist. Judge Ben Krentzman in Tampa.

"On tomorrow, Monday, we will and the department of Justice will, intervene in this case, now on appeal, and they will assist our efforts to obtain a modification of the District Court's order," Kirk told a statewide television audience.

Kirk said the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals "has agreed to expedite the disposition of this cause."

He added: "Basically, Florida and the Department of Justice are in agreement. We believe we must obey and carry out our constitutional mandates—we agree the solutions to our problems must lie in the duly constituted courts."

Kirk said he would reinstate Manatee School Supt. Jack Davidson and members of the county school board so they could prepare for implementation of Krentzman's order Tuesday.

In Bradenton, Davidson said he would attempt again to move the pupils and 107 teachers ordered transferred. But he remarked, "I'm still a bit confused."

Judge Krentzman, who found Kirk in contempt of his court last Saturday and imposed the $10,000-a-day fine, said the governor's withdrawal apparently clears him of the penalty.

Despite Kirk's claim that the Justice Department had promised to help him, a department spokesman in Washington said it "will not ask for any modification of the initial plan" ordered by Krentzman.

Instead, the Justice spokesman said, the department will ask the appeals court to refer the plan to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare for study.

Krentzman's order originally was to have become effective April 6. Kirk, by suspending the Manatee officials and assuming control himself, blocked implementation of the order.

Early Morning Blaze Damages Local Home

Firemen battle an early Sunday morning fire at 55 St. James Street using four 1½-inch hoselines to check the spread of the flames that extensively damaged the attic and roof of the 2½-story frame residence. Chief James Brett and Deputy Chief Glyn Southard directed firefighters who were dispatched to the scene at 2:27 a.m. On arrival firemen saw flames belching from the attic windows and dense smoke on the second floor of the house owned and occupied by Salvatore Provanzano. The flames swept through the attic and extended through the roof, igniting the cornices and licking the exterior walls. Contents of the attic were destroyed and fire damage also extended to the floor timbers and roof of the building which is situated at the corner of Clinton Avenue. The cause of the blaze was not immediately determined, officials said. Heavy smoke and water damage was reported on the second floor. (Freeman photo by Craig Crowell)

At Hallowed Vassar--- Cherchez La Femme

By NANCY SULLIVAN

POUGHKEEPSIE

The hallowed, cloistered halls of Vassar paid host to a vanguard of the feminist movement over the weekend where topics ranging from a woman's role in today's society, and the image of women in the media were chewed over.

Mostly, the gals were unhappy in the American media's portrayal of womenhood and the tone of the meetings seemed to be there was 'no understanding of women at all.'

The group stated that they wish to project a definite image in the media, most expressly stated in that of the realm of advertising. The gals felt that there is too much emphasis on the weak and negative aspects of the female in advertising. Sex appeal is what they claim is being sold.

In fact, one feminist felt that certain advertisements are racist and gave as an example a cigarette commercial — cigarettes are like women—the best ones are thin and rich. It was pointed out that this is the same as saying "cigars are like blacks—the best ones are dark and strong."

The people in ads represent "what the masses would like to be." The vast majority of women would certainly rather see themselves as an elegantly attired passenger in a Cadillac than dressed in overalls manipulating a bulldozer. It's one thing to desire equality but it's something else to do a man's job."

Special

The group denounced blatant discrimination in employment for women, especially in the fields of publishing, newspaper reporting, advertising and television. Why, they asked, do the credits for television news shows list names of women only as researchers and why are women never listed as technicians in the field of visual media? The answer—"women are not taught to do things" and are told that certain jobs are too difficult for them to handle. This could very well be true. Most women are not trained to be technicians because they don't want to be. It should be examined whether women are discriminated against as women per se or because they are not qualified for the job, it was felt.

Professional sports are male dominated. This is a accepted fact and one girl conjectured that the reason for this is that people don't like to see females participating in sports — it's "uncomfortable to watch." There are women skiers, swimmers, tennis players, divers, and gymnasts, only to mention a few. Are the feminists requesting that half of the New York Jets be females? More power to you, if any woman feels she can compete in that field.

One of the girls felt that the liberation movement should boycott the media. She claims its uninteresting to see male faces on the front page of the New York Times, or the cover of Time Magazine, and other publications, but offered no solution to eliminate this problem. Another felt that it was more important for women to learn how to get "power and money" and another felt that the movement must find a better way of presenting woman's image on already existing media.

They did agree that it would be difficult to make an economic attack without widely based support which is one thing that the movement lacks, because as one feminist aptly put it, "the vast majority of American people do not agree with us."

Older movies and novels once projected the image of the "woman protected." This was bad enough the feminists felt. Today, in the same media, the woman is portrayed as an object to be used, based on the statement, "go get her!" While slightly exaggerated, it doesn't project a very adequate or flattering image to the female, but again, no solution to the problem could be found, except for a feeling that if more women become professionals in the various fields of media, they won't be "as easily betrayed."

Verdict Possible Late Today

Trammel Case Going to Jury

By WALTER S. CLARK

KINGSTON

A jury of seven women and five men was expected to begin deliberations early this afternoon in the murder case of 52-year-old Alonzer Trammel, accused of the fatal shooting of 51-year-old Angel Rivera.

The trial, which began before County Judge Raymond J. Mino on Wednesday, April 1, had been postponed Friday morning at the request of Francis Martocci, defense attorney with William Pretsch, of counsel.

The delay was decided upon after it was noted by Judge Mino that when the case went to the jury for deliberations, the jurors would be kept together until a verdict was reached and all agreed against the possibility of locking up the jury over the weekend.

Today's session opened with the final summation by Martocci, followed by the summation by James H. Kerr, assistant district attorney, who prosecuted the murder charge against Trammel.

The jury was to receive the case after the charge by Judge Mino on legal phases of the trial. A verdict might be expected later in the day.

During the trial a key witness for the prosecution was George Bailey, 54, formerly of this city, who testified that he was with the defendant on August 28, 1969 the day Rivera was fatally shot in a lot off Field Court near the UPA warehouse where the men had been drinking wine.

Bailey testified he was with Trammel when the latter bought a .22 caliber single shot rifle at Spada's Sporting Goods Store on Broadway a short time before the shooting.

The only witness called by defense was John Wolfell, an electrician, of Rosendale, who told the jury he was in Spada's store at the time Trammel bought the gun, and later he saw a white man sitting in a car back of the store loading the gun.

Trammel was not called to testify.

Under direct examination by Kerr, State Trooper John S. Bates of the Albany laboratory testified about tests he had made of the rifle, a lead slug and a casing in evidence. He said from his examination he could not definitely state the gun and other items were the ones authorities claim had been used in the shooting. Recalled to the witness stand, Bates said in his opinion the rifle in evidence was capable of being used to fire the bullet in evidence.

RONDER DINNER — Honorees at the testimonial dinner for Alfred D. Ronder Saturday night at the Governor Clinton Hotel discuss festivities. Participating are (L-R) Charles Ronder, son of the honored guest; Alfred Ronder and his wife, Edna, who also was feted; Robert Ronder, son and Rabbi Jonathan Eichhorn of Temple Emanuel. Approximately 325 friends, Temple representatives, banking officials, civic and political leaders were on hand for the testimonial. Gift presentations were made by the Temple, Sisterhood, Brotherhood and board of trustees. Albert Spiegel and Edward Levine were co-chairmen. Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr., Assemblyman H. Clark Bell and Kingston Mayor Francis R. Koenig attended the event. Telegrams of tribute were received from Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller and Senator Jacob Javits. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

Orange Solon Bench Pick

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Assemblyman Daniel Becker of Newburgh was named today by Gov. Rockefeller to the Court of Claims.

Becker, a Republican and a nine-year veteran of the Assembly, will fill the seat vacated by the death of Judge Paul C. Reuss. The term extends to April 30, 1974.

Becker, 65, has been a member of the Assembly since 1959, with the exception of the years 1967-68. He was admitted to the bar in 1928 and later served as judge of the Recorder's Court in Newburgh and corporation counsel to the city.

Rockefeller also reappointed Judges Ronald E. Coleman of Olean and Henry Lengyel of Antwerp to the court for nine-year terms. The judges are paid $34,000 a year.

The appointments are subject to the confirmation of the Senate.

Wants SST Report

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., has accused the White House of hiding a report which he says shows the supersonic transport (SST) plane "is economically wasteful and environmentally harmful.

Reuss claimed the report was prepared at the administration's request. Dr. Lee A. Dubridge, President Nixon's science adviser, told Reuss the report is "not finalized and was used as part of direct input to the President."

Ellenville Man Held On a Drug Charge

ELLENVILLE

A 22-year-old man was arrested Sunday by State Police on a charge of criminal possession of a dangerous drug, 6th degree, after he was allegedly found in possession of marijuana when stopped for a traffic check.

George Bennett of Center Street, this village, was later released in his own custody pending a hearing.

Troopers W. E. Hubert and D. H. Dymond stopped a car driven by Bennett on Route 209 for a vehicle and traffic check. Troopers said they found an open container of an alcoholic beverage in the car in addition to the drugs.

Bennett, troopers said, was booked for the narcotics and open container charges and also for operating and unregistered motor vehicle.

In another case investigated by Troopers Hubert and Dymond, 45-year-old Everard Jones of Box 58, Creek Locks, Town of Rosendale, was arrested on a charge of driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated on Saturday. Troopers said it was the second arrest and the charge against Jones is a felony.

Jones was held in the county jail in lieu of $300 bail pending grand jury action.

Tries Fiery Suicide

ADRIA, Italy (UPI)—Ivenzo Nonnato, 30, an unemployed worker, poured gasoline over his clothes Sunday and set himself on fire, burning himself critically. Nonnato was the third person to try suicide by fire in Italy this year. One of the others, a student in Trieste, died.

Tax Evasion Charge Is Levied Against Former Kingston Man

KINGSTON

A nine-count indictment involving evasion of income tax, has been returned against former Kingston dress manufacturer, Kenneth R. Davis, now reportedly a resident of Mexico City, Mexico.

The indictment, brought by a federal grand jury in U.S. District Court, New York City, April 9, charges Davis with willfully and knowingly attempting to evade income tax for the years 1959 through 1962 and willfull aiding the assisting in the filing of false and fraudulent income tax returns for the years 1959 through 1963."

The indictment charged that Davis failed to report income aggregating to $112,429.11 for 1959-62 on which additional tax of $65,777.50 was owed.

The former operator of the Arlene Dress Company, 86 Broadway, Kingston upon conviction for evasion, is subject to maximum penalty of a fine of $10,000 or imprisonment for not more than five years or both, together with the cost of prosecution. The maximum penalty for false and fraudulent filing is a fine of not more then $5,000 or not more than three years imprisonment or both. Also, the cost of prosecution and the taxes owed must be paid it was pointed out.

Mother, Daughter Killed Near Wappingers Falls

WAPPINGERS FALLS, N.Y. (UPI)—Kathleen Sawner, 23, of Hopewell Junction and her one-year-old daughter, Karen, were killed Sunday in a three-car accident on Route 376 near this Dutchess County community.

Chester Bucello, 22, of the Bronx was charged with failure to stop at a stop sign and state police said "further criminal action is pending" against him in connection with the accident.

Bucello, police said, drove onto Route 376 from Robinson Road and was struck on the left side by a car driven by Edward Davis, 25, of Poughquag. The Davis car, in which the Sawners were riding, then went into the opposite lane and was struck by a car driven by Ingrid Magdo, 29, of Hopewell Junction.

The three drivers and Michael Agranoff, 24, of Mt. Vernon, a passenger in Bucello's car, were all hospitalized in satisfactory condition.

Mrs. Sawner and Mrs. Magdo resided at Carpenter Road; Bucello at 108 Rhinelander Ave. and Davis at Route 55.

Across the state, according to the Associated Press, 18 persons were killed, including the two Dutchess County deaths and two off-duty state troopers.

Non-traffic accidents also took five lives.

Trooper Walter Newman, 36, of Portage, southwest of Rochester, met death Sunday when his pickup truck left a rural road near Geneseo and struck trees.

On Long Island, Trooper Anthony Milazzo Jr., 28, of Massapequa, was killed in a two-car collision in Lindenhurst Saturday that also killed Mary Mangonia, 20, of Lindenhurst.

Three persons died in a one-car accident in Rochester. Traffic accidents in Spencerport and Hammondsport claimed two lives each.

Two persons died in fires. One boy drowned. A cow crushed a young girl to death. A 17-year-old boy died when struck by a train on a railroad bridge.

$57,625 Grant for 'Y' Program

KINGSTON

The local YMCA Summer Neighborhood Youth Corps Project has again received a federal grant of $57,625 for this summer's program.

Robert D. Stubbs, executive director of the YMCA of Kingston and Ulster County said he has received notification from the U.S. Labor Department that the program sponsored for the past three summers has been funded again for 1970.

The project will involve approximately 125 teenage youth between the ages of 14 and 21 from low income familes. Approximately $8,000 additional will be provided locally in services.

Kingston and Ulster County YMCA administers this program by providing job stations throughout the county for the 125 teenagers. The young people may work either in public agencies or for private non-profit corporations, but they may not work in private enterprise. Some of the jobs included are library aides, program and recreation aides, clerical aides, supply room aides, general office aides, teacher aides, guidance office aides, and groundskeeper aides.

Job stations in the past two summers have included the Kingston City Schools Consolidated, New Paltz Central Schools, Onteora Central Schools, Wallkill Central Schools, Rondout Valley Central Schools, Saugerties Central Schools, the YMCA Summer Youth Programs, the Kingston Hospital, the Kingston City Library, Phoenicia Library, Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce Office, Ulster County Community Action summer programs and the downtown churches summer recreation program.

The local YMCA has responsibility for recruitment of the enrollees, obtaining job stations, counseling with enrollees and job supervisors, and general supervision. The young people are paid by the YMCA based on time sheets submitted by the supervisors at the individual job sites.

The object of the program is to privide meaningful summer work experience for the enrollees, encouraging them to return to school to complete their education so that they may be more employable upon high school graduation.

"The 1970 project, which permits 125 enrollees to work 26 hours per week for nine weeks at $1.50 per hour is an increase over 1969 and indicates the favor with which the YMCA's administration of the project has been received," Stubbs said.

"Job stations from last summers project will be contacted in the near future to make arrangements for the 1970 program, and they should wait until they receive correspondence from the YMCA office before contacting the YMCA about this summer's project," Stubbs said.

Task Force

A joint meeting of the 28th Congressional District Agricultural Task Force and area Farm Bureau was held Sunday night at the Gov. Clinton Hotel. The meeting, scheduled by Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr., was called to discuss problems facing farmers in the district and pending legislation. Fish held his first congressional neighborhood meeting of 1970 at Highland last week and plans similar meetings in Hyde Park, Catskill, Pleasant Valley, Hudson and New Paltz. Left are Clayton Warrner of Delaware County; Rep. Fish; Charles Andola of Highland and Malvin Hurd of Milton. Congressman Fish also took part in the Hudson Valley Apple Day promotion in Washington during the week. (Freeman photo by Haines).

Student Unrest Flares

By United Press International

Student unrest affects three of New York State's largest and most prestigious universities today, with Fordham's administration building occupied, Cornell's campus patrolled by an anti-firebomb brigade, and classes cancelled at Hunter.

Despite the Cornell brigade, an incendiary device exploded Sunday night in an oven of a fraternity house, causing only minor damage and no injuries.

Police were not called on campus, and the composition of the firebomb was not revealed by authorities at the school, who continued to work with the volunteer patrols to stem just such incidents.

Shortly after midnight, approximately 200 students and a few teachers at Fordham College in the Bronx ended debate among themselves and decided to move into the administration building.

The students, who made a point of disavowing allegiance to any radical groups, said they wanted a popular English teacher reinstated. They said they will sit-in on the Rose Hill campus until Fordham University's administration reinstates Dr. Ronald Friedland, whose tenure was refused Friday.

The students at the Jesuit school have been orderly, and police have not been called. A meeting between students and officials was being arranged for later in the day.

Hunter College, part of the City University of New York, was closed for classes today and Tuesday.

Mrs. Jacqueline Grennan Wexler, president of the 19,000-student school, stressed "closed for classes," because the 16-story itself was kept open and she urged students and teachers to come to school to participate in seminars covering radical student demands for restructuring the college government.

A consortium of 17 minority and other groups, including the Young Lords and Black Panthers, have formed the "People's Coalition" at Hunter, demanding 50-50 voting power on the faculty council with the power to hire and fire teachers.

Engine Jumps Track in Orange

NEWBURGH, N. Y. (UPI)—A diesel engine pushing two cars at a slow rate of speed jumped the Erie - Lackawanna tracks but remained upright shortly after midnight today at a grade crossing on Route 32.

No one was injured in the mishap, authorities said, and the road was quickly cleared.

The scene of the accident was in the town of New Windsor near the Newburgh city line.

Weekend Mishaps—MV Arrests

KINGSTON

Kingston State Police report a number of arrests over the weekend and the hospitalization of two persons involved in separate one-car accidents.

Jane Stiles, 27, of Kingston received lacerations of the head, face and body about 11 p.m. Sunday when the car she was driving on Glasco Turnpike came around a curve and went off the right side of the road into a culvert. She was taken to Kingston Hospital.

K. G. Lerchenmuller, 25, of Rt. 2, Saugerties, was taken to Benedictine Hospital for treatment of injuries to his body sustained in an accident on Blue Mountain Road where he reportedly ran off the road to avoid hitting a dog.

State Police arrested Howard J. Smith of Rhinebeck 2:30 a.m. Sunday for driving while intoxicated on Rt. 9W. He is scheduled to appear before Judge Arthur A. Reilly April 22.

Also scheduled for appearance before Judge Reilly Wednesday night is Alexander Ullrich of Kingston who is charged with leaving the scene of an accident 11:30 Saturday night in the parking lot of the 9W Drive-In. Ullrich is alleged to have hit cars belonging to James Woodard of Hurley, Charyl Ramberg of Glen Cove and Jasper Capone of New Paltz.

Three arrests for public intoxication were also made by State Police, Lake Katrine Barracks. Committed to Ulster County Jail were Cesilio Ecncarnacion, 27; Leo Sanchez and Raymond Adarno, all of 60 Franklin Street, Kingston. Also arrested at the same time was Candido Rodriquez, also of 60 Franklin Street who was confined to Ulster County Jail. He is charged with being an unlicensed operator, having no insurance, no registration and unsafe tires.

29 FIREMEN FELLED — New York firemen battle a fire in a commercial building housing the offices of supporters of 13 Black Panthers on trial in an alleged bomb plot, on Sunday. The blaze started in a ground-floor restaurant about 5 a. m. and spread upward. At least 29 firemen were injured. The offices of the Panther defense attorneys escaped the worst damage. Tax Protests The Cry Now

WASHINGTON (AP) —While millions of Americans grumble quietly about paying income taxes, three peace groups are planning protests this week against using the tax money for war.

Starting today with a fast, including a "nondinner" scheduled at Lafayette Park across from the White House, protest leaders say the three days before Wednesday's midnight deadline for filing tax returns will be filled with rallies, demonstrations and student strikes in more than 150 cities and on hundreds of college campuses.

The war protests were called by the New Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam, the Vietnam Moratorium Committee and the Student Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam.

Protest leaders are planning rallies and demonstrations Wednesday to focus on the past and present use of tax money for war spending. They say they also want to show the relationship of the Vietnam war to inflation and social problems.

The taxpayer rallies in most cities, organizers said, would be held in front of or near Internal Revenue Service centers. They also plan "Boston Tea Party" demonstrations, the passing out of leaflets in shopping areas, and the circulation of petitions and antiwar literature.

Rallies are slated for such cities as Boston, New York, Baltimore, Newark, Knoxville, Chicago, Cleveland, Denver, Houston and Dallas. But national organizers also claimed many smaller cities and towns would be having demonstrations.

The Vietnam Moratorium Committee says eight U.S. senators and 17 representatives have endorsed the taxpayer rallies. It also claimed endorsements from more than 300 student leaders.

The Student Mobilization Committee, which called a student strike for April 15, said it is unable to predict how many campuses it would hit, but one spokesman said "probably a couple of hundred." He said that for example the student governments of three Boston area colleges are supporting the strike.

In Philadelphia, the spokesman said, the public school board of education has agreed to allow programs dealing with war, to be organized by the students, in the junior and senior high schools.

Money Matters—Big Albany Problem

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Republican leaders grappled today with the twin problems of supplying state aid to parochial schools and producing more money for the state's hard-pressed cities, as the legislature mounted a drive for final adjournment next weekend.

Legislative leaders hoped to bring the 1970 session to a close by Saturday or Sunday, but they still had several major hurdles to clear.

Money matters captured their attention after having disposed of the session's most controversial issue—liberalizing New York's rigid old abortion law.

Gov. Rockefeller capped last week's prolonged consideration of the abortion issue by signing the narrowly approved bill into law early Saturday afternoon. He offered no comment in doing so.

His signature, however, means that, beginning July 1, the question of whether a woman may undergo an abortion in this state will be left strictly to her and her doctor. Under the old standard, abortions have been allowed only when necessary to save the woman's life.

After signing the measure, Rockefeller conferred at length both Saturday and Sunday with Assembly Speaker Perry B. Duryea Jr. and Senate Majority Leader Earl W. Brydges on a wide range of pending problems.

Chief among them were the questions of aiding the state's financially struggling parochial school system and responding to the clamor of big-city mayors for extra assistance.

Both matters are tied closely to drafting of the annual supplemental budget bill. The document is passed at the end of each legislative session to cover spending items not included in the main budget.

Fiscal sources indicated the bill would range close to $100 million, with around $12 million earmarked for a program of aid to parochial schools. The program envisions a total outlay of about $20 million during the next school year, but only 60 per cent of the money would have to be voted now because the school year and the state's fiscal year overlap.

To get around the State Constitution's ban on aid to church-run schools, legislative leaders have been contemplating a system of reimbursement for services that the state requires the schools to perform, such as keeping student records and administering tests. That appears to be the basic approach, but final agreement has not been announced.

The main problem in trying to help the cities is that they are asking for sums of money far beyond the state's apparent means. Accordingly, Rockefeller and the leaders have been considering such devices as state enforcement of overdue parking tickets—that is, suspending vehicle registrations until "scofflaws" pay up.

Rockefeller also was said to be leaning toward New York City's long-standing request for permission to operate off-track, horse-betting parlors.

Another major item awaiting attention was Rockefeller's request for authority to establish a "super prosecutor" to lead a statewide war on organized crime. The legislative leaders would like to incorporate this idea into a new State Department of Criminal Justice.

After working into Saturday evening, the Assembly recessed until this morning. The Senate planned to return to action in mid-afternoon.

The leaders would like to adjourn the session on Saturday but are prepared to work through next Sunday, if necessary—and go on into Monday morning only as a last resort.

The controlling factor is that the Passover holiday begins at sundown Monday. At that time Jewish legislators and staff aides are expected to be in their homes refraining from all business activity.

The Abortion Opponents

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—Never-say-die opponents of New York State's new liberal abortion law prepared to push some amendments to the controversial measure today, just two days after Governor Rockefeller signed the bill.

About the only modification certain of passage would protect doctors and hospitals refusing to perform abortions from legal penalties. This one has the backing of Mrs. Constance E. Cook, R-Ithaca, the main sponsor of the new abortion law which goes into effect July 1.

More restrictive amendments, including proposals to reduce the six month time period for abortions without restrictions and to require that such operations be performed in either hospitals or clinics, face a less certain fate. All these amendments were defeated during the main debate on the bill itself, but may stand a chance of approval now the measure is law.

Rockefeller signed the main bill into law without comment Saturday, only about 19 hours after it won final legislative approval in the Senate.

The prompt approval gives hospitals and doctors a maximum amount of time to prepare for the new law.

Mrs. Cook said response has been "exceedingly favorable" regarding the change in the 140-year-old state law, which permitted abortions only when the mother's life was threatened.

As the law now stands, after June 30, any woman may have an abortion during the first six months of pregnancy if it is performed or advised by a licensed physician, and if she gives her consent.

In the last three months of pregnancy, the abortion may only be performed if the woman's life is threatened.

Mrs. Cook said from the experience of other states, it is not immediately clear what the impact on New York hospitals will be.

Last year, New York City hospitals treated 4,000 women who had attempted abortions in other locations. The number of illegal abortions in the state has been put as high as 100,000 a year.

Although some opponents claimed there are not enough facilities for "abortion on demand,' 'Mrs. Cook said most maternity wards are only being used at three-fourths' capacity, and in other areas "the hospital situation is miserable," no matter what you're in for."

A possible overcrowding she said, was one reason for allowing the abortions to be performed wherever the physician feels it is safe, not necessarily in hospitals or clinics.

The only amendment backed by Mrs. Cook, along with a bipartisan group of assemblymen, would protect hospitals or doctors who do not wish to perform abortions.

Assemblyman George Michaels, D-Auburn, whose last-minute switch provided the margin of victory for the bill in the Assembly, supported the Cook amendment and said he would also propose exempting physicians from liability if they perform abortions in emergencies.

Mobile Dump Nearing Reality in Dutchess County

TIM SCHUSTER

RHINEBECK — utchess County is well on e way toward having one of e world's first mobile dumps.

After six months of haggling, e Board of Representatives arch 24 approved the ex- nditure of $23,000 for the rchase, rent, or development a "mini-crusher."

"We have not seen any of ese mobile pieces of equip- ent in operation, but that is ecause none exist," said obert L'Archevesque, chair- an of the board's Refuse isposal Commitee.

The idea is to mount a milling evice, capable of chewing up efrigerators, furniture, parts of ars, and similar objects, on trailer so that it can travel o different locations in the ounty and perform its function.

The county has been assured of $294,000 grant from the federal government over a three year period for this express purpose, and District V Representative Madison Sipperley Jr. commented that a watchfull federal eye was being kept on the county to see what results would be.

Dutchess County was the first to request the mobile crusher from the federal government, and will probably be the first to put the idea to use.

L'Archevesque told The Freeman that the target date for beginning operations is in six months, probably during September. Present work entails getting specifications drawn up and submitted to the two companies which specialize in crushing machines.

One, Eidal Company of Albuquerque, N.M., impressed several members of the board and County Executive David Schoentag recently when they toured the area. Another is Heil Company of Milwaukee, Wisc.

At the end of the three year operation, according to L'Archevesque, the machinery would be the property of Dutchess County.

Sipperley understood that the equipment would probably be parked near the county airport most of the time, but would be capable of keeping appointments in all towns of the county to demolish whatever large chunks of debris had accumulated.

He said that the end result of the milling resembles papier mache, and compacts under pressure so that a car can run over it. It could be used for sanitary landfill, and there would be no rodent problem.

"In fact," said Sipperley, "they placed some rats in the stuff and they ended up eating each other."

The representative noted that the money has been available for quite a while, but some dispute in the County Health Department has been holding up the implementation.

It seems that the apparatus would require the services of county sanitary engineers, and the Health Department felt it could not spare them, but this difference has been resolved.

For larger items, like junk cars, the county is still seeking a site where a contractor may come and crush them on the Hudson River, similar to the operation which has nearly cleared Columbia County of its unwanted junkers. The towns of Dutchess County will participate in rounding up the strays.

Thus the county will be the first in the United States with a portable junkyard, but one that should prove beneficial to its residents.

Increase in Red Hook Budget

RED HOOK — The Red Hook village budget will be up about $7,000 from last year's, with tax revenues estimated to take care of about $5,000 of that according to Village Clerk Francis Rabbett.

The budget, which was completed Friday, will total $101,135.46 in the general fund, with the self-supporting water item $33,500. Last year's general fund total was $94,287.80.

Estimated burden to the taxpayer will increase from $72,322.80 to $76,070.46, said Rabbett, effecting a $2 per thousand increase in assessed valuation from $40 to $42.

Increases include $2,000 for refurbishing of the village building, both interior and exterior; salary increases for some village employes, including $300 apiece for the two full-time patrolmen to $6,100 and $5,800. The entire police item is up about $1,000.

There are no suggested changes in salaries for those holding elective offices.

The heavy snow fall of this past winter will be paid off through next year. A budget note for $2,000 will be included in the itemization, and an $800 increase for snow removal will also be employed.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, APRIL 13, 1970

One Concerned Citizen

The civics class will please come to order. Today, we have to consider the case of the concerned California housewife, who singlehandedly killed a tax-consuming county agency that had finished its work, yet continued to occupy an office in the court house, and had a secretary, an attorney and several expense-paid directors at an annual cost of $5,050.

Mrs. Seymour Goodmacher, mother of three boys, was taking a night course in local government at Dialbo Valley College in California. She was paying taxes to two water districts and decided to find out why. She learned that the San Ramon district was formed in 1956 to pass a bond issue. Once the bond issue was passed, the district no longer performed any corporate functions.

At the advice of her teacher, Mrs. Goodmacher initiated a landowners' petition and forced the supervisors to hold a dissolution hearing. She simply petitioned the supervisors to take over the tax collecting and pay off the bonds by using the existing secretaries and lawyers. No extra expense was involved.

This is an example of what one concerned housewife can do with what she learns about local government. It is possible that almost in any city or county there may be similar situations, in which boards or other functions have long ceased but the hirelings continue to draw their pay for doing nothing or so little that their duties can be passed on to permanent officials.

State and federal governments are more likely to have such supernumeraries. Locating and denouncing them, and seeing that they are dissolved would render a fine public service.

Fatal Diplomacy

The murder of Count Karl von Spreti, West German Ambassador of Guatemala, and the shooting of Curtis Cutter, U.S. Consul to Porto Alegre, Brazil, on the same day, makes diplomacy a hazardous calling.

West Germany's immediate reaction was to call all diplomatic personnel from Guatemala. This gave notice to Latin American nations that they must curtail this newest outrage of kidnaping diplomats for ransom, or they will be cut off from relations with the outside world.

Cutter was not killed only because he outwitted his would-be kidnapers, ran down one of them, and sped safely to his home. He was shot in the back as he drove away from the trap the kidnapers were trying to set up for him.

U.S. Ambassador C. Burke Elbrick, who was himself kidnaped last September and held for four days by terrorists who demanded and obtained in exchange 15 political prisoners held by the Brazilian government, spoke from experience. He warned Brazil that this latest act of terrorism heightened American concern for the safety of our diplomatic and consular officials.

Chancellor Willy Brandt, who happened to be in Texas inspecting German aviators in training there, was even more vehement. Count von Spreti was shot after the Guatemalan government refused to free political prisoners and pay a large ransom or to permit the West German government to do so. West Germany could not countenance such negligence in behalf of its ambassador.

Like the hijacking of airplanes, kidnaping diplomats has become a deadly weapon of terrorism. Unless Latin America, where it began and spread, can find a way to halt this despicable practice, other nations will simply have to pull their representatives home and leave Guatemala, Brazil and other Latin American countries without foreign representatives.

Lower Voting Age

In the last 31 years, the American people have turned from a low of 17 per cent in 1939 who favored lowering the voting age to permit 18-year-olds and over to vote to 58 per cent who now favor the change. That is the progress shown by Gallup polls over the years.

On March 12, the U.S. Senate approved, 64 to 17, legislation that would lower the voting age to 18 for all elections. The House is expected to consider this legislation shortly. Should it approve, it would be in accord with at least six out of 10 adults in the country, according to the Gallup poll.

Most who favor lowering the voting age say, "If a person is old enough to fight, he's old enough to vote." Young people, 21 and over, especially are for it. Older persons have been more cautious. Since they are more likely to vote in state elections, they account for the fact that states have rejected the lowered age again and again.

The 18- to 21-year group would not revolutionize elections if they could vote, except in a close contest. But it would help them mature to know they have a responsibility for political life in the nation.

David Lawrence Says

Haynsworth, Carswell — Will Voters Forget Them?

WASHINGTON — President Nixon will challenge the Senate to approve a nominee for the Supreme Court who doesn't come from the South but who believes in a strict interpretation of the Constitution. The President emphasizes that it is a principal which he is seeking to establish rather than the selection of any particular individual.

At the same time, however, Mr. Nixon makes it clear that he believes Judges Haynsworth and Carswell were subjected to "vicious assaults on their intelligence, on their honesty and on their character," and that they had been "falsely charged with being racists." He adds that, when all the hypocrisy is stripped away, "The real reason for their rejection was their legal philosophy" and "the accident of their birth — the fact that they were born in the South."

Since Mr. Nixon now has asked his Attorney General to find someone outside the South, he is, in effect, expressing his regret on behalf of the people of the South that no "strict constructionist," no matter how capable, who comes from that area can expect to be confirmed by the Senate "as it is presently constituted." The President believes that this was at the bottom of the fight against both Judge Haynsworth and Judge Carswell.

The people of the South have been witnessing the Anti-Southern expressions in the Senate, and have not been happy about it. The racial problem is a difficult one to handle. But solutions were not advanced by the unreasonable attitudes of those Senators who selected a speech made 22 years ago and used it as the basis for the rejection of Judge Carswell, even though he declared that his views had, of course, changed.

But what will the Senate do with any nomination in the future? If the President takes a chance again and selects someone who has been on the bench a number of years, certainly the decisions rendered by such a judge will be scrutinized minutely. If some of them were reversed by a higher court, they may be charged with being "in error." If any speeches were made expressing sympathy with a cause that happens to be involved in the controversies of the day, such a nominee runs the risk of opposition from organizations espousing opposite viewpoints.

Any judge who has served in the federal courts or in the state judiciary has had his opinions reversed in various instances by higher tribunals. But in the case of Judge Carswell, his record was widely advertised as an example of "mediocrity" and as showing lack of ability.

Few men have been the victims of such smear campaigns as were leveled at the two defeated nominees for the high court not only by some newspaper editors who in the past have dealt with these matters objectively but by organizations which have become supersensitive about racial questions.

When a nomination is before the Senate for three months, there is time enough to spread many kinds of rumors and reports. An opportunity is afforded political groups to exert their pressure. It was so intense on the occasion of the Carswell nomination that 13 Republicans deserted their president, while 28 stood by him. But it is to be noted that practically all of those who felt compelled to vote against Carswell come from areas where there is a large Negro vote and civil-rights groups exercise quite an influence, particularly in big cities. The same is true of labor organizations.

So if an appointee has heretofore expressed himself on racial questions or labor matters in a manner that might antagonize these organizations, which virtually exercise majority control in Congress, there is little chance for the nomination to be approved.

Nearly 11 months have elapsed since the Haynsworth nomination was made to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Justice Fortas, and the high court has really needed the extra justice. There are reports that Mr. Nixon will not act until after the congressional elections. Will the rejections of the Haynsworth and Carswell nominations be forgotten in the meantime? Or will they remain as a thorn in the side of the Senators who deserted their own party? This is something that the voters may decide in November, when several of the Senators of both parties are up for reelection.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

The President should select a date and call it National Happy Day. It isn't easy to smile on command, but it's better than looking at the worn scowls I see from the back of my eyeballs. History shows that each generation of Americans predicted that "the country is going to the dogs." This may be the first group to be right.

My natural inclination is optimism. I'm going to Great Harbour Cay in the Bahamas tomorrow and I actually believe that I'll catch the biggest fish they've ever seen. When I work on a book — no matter what the subject — I research it so deeply that I'm sure it will be the best of its type.

The feeling isn't boastful. I try harder. I never won a scholastic honor, startled my elders with a brilliant observation, or made the school baseball team. My permanent opinion is that this is the best nation the world has ever seen. Now I'm scared.

Something frightful has happened to values. I do not object to greed, because it's a first cousin to ambition. But we have reached a paragraph in history where life itself is of small value. Young men hijack airplanes to Cuba; bombs are planted in buildings and the bomber doesn't know who will be killed or even how many.

A brilliant mind like F. Lee Bailey of Boston — a lawyer and jet pilot — tells us that his union of radar watchers are so fatigued, so sick of near air collisions that they are nervous wrecks. If Bailey is on the level, he should name them so that they can be discharged at once. If they're too nervous to assemble landing and take off patterns, they are a menace to air travel.

There are over 200,000,000 of us in the United States of America and we don't even know what to do with our garbage. We . . . just . . . don't . . . know. Soon the rats will outnumber the people.

The government is worried about what to do with radioactive waste, some of which has a half-life of 500 years. The Soviet Union and the U.S. spend scores of billions of dollars on hydrogen weapons which cannot be used. If one button is pressed, they will all be pressed and this planet will become a black cinder in the eye of the universe.

Courts issue injunctions against "sick" strikes, but union leaders wring their hands and pretend that they are powerless to stop the outlaws. In contracts between management and labor, either both sides must honor the contract until renewal time or else there is no contract.

The so-called youth rebellion isn't a rebellion at all. It's a first class excuse to grow a beard, cancel baths, drop studies, and live on marijuana and girls. Our racism conflict continues to pit ten per cent of the population against 90 per cent. The pigs call policemen pigs.

The more that is granted by statute, the more is demanded. There is a world of difference between the peaceful logic of the Rev. Martin Luther King and the bloody hatred of Rap Brown and the Black Panthers. If the choice is to kill or be killed, let it begin now. I'm weary of both sides threatening to do something drastic.

The postmen walked off the job and stopped the country. It is that easy. Circuits suddenly became unavailable as Western Union was swamped with messages, and the strike wasn't legal.

Money is almost meaningless. The amount you saved over the years may be worth half of what you think it represents. The government considers it a victory that we have more men out of work now than when Nixon assumed the office of President. It is a sign, we are told, that inflation is slowing down. We haven't felt it in this house. Food and commodities are climbing whether I work or not.

The house itself could be sold for a tremendous profit, but I would have to buy another house where some owner is waiting to make a tremendous profit. Buy a suit of clothes for $150 and you will have to give the tailor ten days in which to take up the cuffs and the sleeves.

Perhaps our worst crime is that our civic fathers permitted ghettos. This should not be an acute problem. Most towns build outward from the railroad tracks or the main highway. They are also the first to decay as suburban developments are built.

Maybe we haven't learned to plan. Our engineers design highways which are obsolete the day the governors cuts the ribbon. America has some good men who can look ahead. The only trouble is that some are blind.

Mr. President, we really need some thought about a National Happy Day! If you create it, I'll smile until my face hurts...

Jack Anderson Says

Swarm of Agents Investigate Wallace Administrations

WASHINGTON — A special task force of Internal Revenue agents has moved into Alabama to investigate charges of corruption in the administrations of former Governor George Wallace and his late wife, Lurleen.

The tax probe, which began on a small scale during the Johnson administration, has focused on the backdoor activities of Gerald Wallace, the former governor's brother, law partner and political confidant.

Gerald Wallace, a slight, bespectacled man of 50, has fallen into sudden wealth since his famous brother became Governor in 1962. Although Gerald was only three years out of law school and seldom appeared in court, he has funneled enough money through his law office to move from a modest apartment to a lush, 315-acre cattle farm.

He lives the life of a rich country squire on his new estate, which contains a private swimming pool, scenic lake and wooden dock with an elegant, many-sided gazebo at the end. He has even constructed special quarters for his hunting dogs and their attendant.

Alleged Kickbacks

The government is investigating charges that Gerald Wallace and Rankin Fite, the mighty Speaker of Alabama's House of Delegates, collected kickbacks on state and federal highway contracts. Part of the money is alleged to have been turned over to George Wallace to fuel his 1968 presidential campaign, in which he promised to restore "law and order" to the nation.

Fite allegedly turned the kickbacks over to Gerald Wallace. Both men vigorously denied any wrongdoing.

The task force is also looking into a possible link between Gerald Wallace and Alabama's notorious liquor agent system under which political cronies of the reigning governor collect fat fees on the sale of liquor to the state.

Confidential field reports, made available to this column, quote Alabama informants, as saying that Gerald Wallace has boasted of receiving $400,000 in commissions on state liquor sales. In Alabama, all liquor is sold in state-owned stores.

The Internal Revenue Service's audit division, in its confidential findings, has alleged that Gerald Wallace omitted legal-fee income from his tax returns in 1967 and 1968. After deducting large losses from his cattle farm, he reported a total taxable income of $109,944 in 1967 and $65,980 in 1968.

Probe Expanded

Last January 20, the case was referred to Internal Revenue's crack intelligence division, which handles criminal investigations. A group of agents from various southern offices was immediately assembled in Alabama.

They have expanded the probe until it now includes alleged kickback schemes involving state highway paving contracts, textbook sales, engineering contracts and misuse of funds at the state docks in Mobile.

The federal agents are also asking questions about the following state political figures: Attorney General MacDonald Gallion, State Treasurer Agnes Baggett, former State Finance Director Symore Trammell, State Docks Director Houston Feaster and his assistant, Jim Scott, and State Senators Roland Cooper and Alton Turner.

It should be emphasized, of course, that the investigation is still in its preliminary stages, and no formal charges have been brought against anyone.

My associate, Britton Hume, flew to Montgomery, Ala., to discuss the investigation with Gerald Wallace. He acknowledged that he was under tax investigation.

"They have got 47 agents on me right now," he said bitterly. "You all are trying to beat George Wallace. You're not interested in my tax returns."

He added that federal agents had been after him "as long as George has been cussin' federal judges and most especially since he scared the hell out of Nixon and Humphrey."

Wallace's Story

He swore he had never collected a kickback and, although his law practice was his main source of income, had never represented any state highway contractors or liquor companies. He angrily rejected the suggestion that the Wallace law firm was used in any kickback scheme. He also denied that his brother was still practicing law with him and declared that George Wallace no longer had space in the firm's office.

However, Hume visited the Wallace law office, which is located in a rickety second-story walkup a few blocks from the state capitol. He found the dingy suite still contains an office with George Wallace's name on the door and a desk inside piled with papers.

Significantly, despite Gerald's insistance that his sizeable income came mainly from his law practice, respected members of the Montgomery legal community advised Hume that the Wallace brothers have never had an active law practice.

Note: George Wallace is running for governor this year against incumbent Albert Brewer, a former Wallace protege, who took over when Lurleen Wallace died in May, 1968. When this column revealed a few months later the liquor agent system that George Wallace had promised to abolish was still operating, Brewer attempted to cover it up. Later, when State Auditor Melba Till Allen produced evidence of financial mismanagement at the state docks, Brewer was quick to exonerate docks director Houston Feaster and to assure the public that all was well at the docks.

Nixon Administration Caught In Trap on Textile Imports

By BRUCE BIOSSAT
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Lost from sight amid the publicized battle between the United States and Japan over textile imports is the grave peril the hardening American position for quotas may pose for nearly a score of developing nations which count on textile trade with us.

Commerce Department figures for 1969 show that of our total textile import (including materials and products), almost exactly half come from underdeveloped lands, mostly in Asia, while Japan supplies a quarter and Western Europe the remaining one-fourth.

Among our Asian suppliers aside from Japan, the biggest are Korea, Taiwan, India, Pakistan, the Philippines, Malaysia, Singapore and Hong Kong. In all these cases the trade is important, and in some it is absolutely vital to the stability of their economies.

The issue is made more acute by the fact that U.S. foreign aid to the developing countries in Asia and elsewhere is shrinking to the lowest levels in 20 years.

They need trade for offsetting growth, and in more thar a few such nations nearly all hope resides in low-technology, high-labor-content manufactures like textiles and shoes.

It should not go unnoticed that two nations on the Asian "danger list" — South Korea and Taiwan — are often cited by American government authorities as showplace countries which have demonstrated "what non-Communist Asian countries can achieve economically in contrast to China and other Red-dominated nations."

The South Koreans ship us $105 million worth of textile products. This represents almost a sixth of the $646 million worth of cotton, wool and man-made textile products we imported last year from the developing nations in Asia, Latin America and a few other spots.

That $105 million South Korean figure amounts to just one-fourth of one per cent of annual U.S. textile consumption. But, unmistakably, the dollars thus earned are the key driving force in South Korea's heralded economic upsurge.

Why, when today the focus of the textile import dispute is so sharply and narrowly upon Japan, is there reason to believe that restrictive quotas may ultimately imperil the developing lands — not to mention Western Europe?

The answer is simple, as given by the stauch advocates of maintaining a freer trade not only in textiles but virtually across the board.

The Nixon administration, badly caught in a trap the President set for himself with a 1968 campaign pledge to Southerners (mainly Sen. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina) to cut the textile import flow, began fairly early in 1969 with appeals to our West European suppliers. They failed utterly.

Commerce Secretary Maurice Stans, who was carrying the textile torch in these appeals, went next to Japan. His luck there was no better, though Japanese negotiators are said to have offered some counterproposals to his "voluntary quota" approach which seemed reasonable.

Though some 17 underdeveloped nations, as we have seen, bulk much larger together than either Japan or Western Europe, the administration clearly could not make the same appeals to lands with either delicately stable or visibly shaky, struggling economies.

Yet free trade advocates here believe that the now growing prospect of compulsory import quotas on textiles, to be fixed by law the way things are going, would inveitably be most damaging to the developing lands. (Incidentally, Mexico, Brazil, Colombia and Israel are on that list.)

There is a conviction here, supported strongly by angry Japanese leaders and other Asians, that the textile fight centers today on Japan because it is so juicy a target.

The world knows Japan is booming, is the third biggest industrial power and could surpass Russia by the 1980s. Moreover, a widespread notion exists that the aggressive Japanese are "market-flooders" who may deserve some curbing and could take it without much real hurt.

The free trade hardheads stress, however, that the key fact to remember is that the developing lands outdo Japan 2-to-1 in U.S. textile sales and no quota system could cut deep without striking at them.

Confidence in Nixon on Viet Has Declined

By GEORGE GALLUP

Copyright, 1970, American Institute of Public Opinion. All rights reserved. Reproduction in whole or part strictly prohibited, except with written consent of the copyright holders.

PRINCETON, N.J., April 12—Public confidence in President Nixon's Vietnam policies has declined steadily since January, with less than half of all adults interviewed in a recent survey voicing approval.

A solid majority of 65 per cent gave the President of vote of confidence on Vietnam in January, but the proposition dwindled to 53 per cent in February and to 48 per cent in the current survey, which was completed in early April.

The President's current approval rating on Vietnam is only three points higher than his low point to date, which was recorded last September during a period of deepening depression over the war.

President Nixon's November 3 speech on Vietnam gave encouragement to many war-weary Americans and boosted the President's approval rating.

Want Faster Disengagement

Since the beginning of the current year, however, an increasing number of Americans — Particularly Democrats and persons who describe themselves as Independents — have become disgruntled over what they consider the "slow pace" of disengagement from Vietnam.

However, many of these new critics at the same time give indication that they feel the situation is an exceedingly complex one without clearcut solutions.

One homeowner remarked typically: "I don't know what the President's going to do about that Vietnam mess, but he sure ought to stop the killing over there and bring our boys home."

Only in the South does the President currently receive majority approval on Vietnam The percentage is 54 per cent in that region, 47 per cent in the Midwest, 45 per cent in the Far West and 45 per cent in the East.

Among Democrats only 37 per cent now say they approve of the way the President is handling the Vietnam situation. In January, a majority of 53 per cent did so.

Popularity Tied To Vietnam War

President Lyndon Johnson's standing with the American public rested in large measure on attitudes toward his handling of the Vietnam situation, and this appears to be the case with President Nixon.

In January, when the President received 65 per cent approval rating on Vietnam, his overall rating stood at 63 per cent approval.

The latest survey, conducted March 25-April 2, shows 55 per cent of persons interviewed saying they approve of the way Nixon is handling his job as President, 33 per cent expressing disapproval and 12 per cent with no opinion. The comparable percentages for the previous survey, conducted March 20-22, are 53 per cent, 30 per cent and 17 per cent.

The latest survey was conducted after the postal strike but before the Senate's defeat Wednesday of the nomination of Judge Harrold G. Carswell to the Supreme Court.

Following is the question asked in the latest survey, which covered approximately 300 localities across the nation:

Do you approve or disapprove of the way President Nixon is handling the situation ,in Vietnam?

Here are the latest results and trend for the last seven months:

Nixon Wins Points On Postal Crisis

A majority of the American people (58 per cent) say they approve of the way President Nixon has dealt with the post office crisis. However, the President's overall popularity rating, which stood at 53 per cent before the President dispatched troops to New York City to move the mail and 55 per cent at the strike's end, appears to have been little affected.

Here is the question asked in the current survey and the results:

Do you approve or disapprove of the way Presiden Nixon has dealt with the post office crisis?

Editor, The Freeman:

Drug Addiction

Throughout the western world, no other country has such shocking high rate of drug addiction as the United States.

Our northern neighbor, Canada, has only 50 per cent of our totality in this respect. Italy the lowest.

Three leading psychiatrists were asked what lies behind America's perilous flirtation with narcotics?

This disturbing and eye opening testimony may point the way to curb the tragic trend among young Americans even as low as elementary schools.

It was stated no matter where they came from — they are victims of an "identity crisis" because the addict lacks genuine understanding of the family identity relationship, no moral, patriotic, and religious guide lines.

There is an attitude lacking in desire to grow up into adults in their point of view.

We say — grow up and make something of yourself — but no one tells them why or helps them decide for themselves.

These psychiatrists came to the conclusion that we are making too many demands too early in life on our children by shoving them into situations before they are ready to handle them.

A child getting in trouble is a sort of outcast due to social reactions of fear and bitterness. That feeling of failure to measure up to parential or social standards and being rejected — coming to think of themselves as mere family possessions and thus having a feeling of no useful purpose.

They get no feeling of family permanence in a family partnership.

Therefore, in this feeling of non support — real or imaginary — the substitute supporting crutch is drugs.

In America we feel being dependent is a form of weakness relative to youth while in a religious sense we are all dependent upon God which should apply to parent or anyone dealing with youth.

The expressive demands applicable in modern America is the idea that almost everyone can be afforded a college education because there is nothing heroic about being mediocre.

Some may look down on blue collar workers and place a higher premium on professionalism as no other way to acceptably prepare for a career.

Thus many of your young people do not feel that they are qualified for college ,but feel they must make a farced attempt.

The fear of becoming a flunk out or a reject plays a big roll in hot beds of drug abuse on campus because we refuse to admit that potential is limited, thus placing a tremendous strain and pressure only to be swallowed up in the rat race.

The panel concludes we are rushing our youth into premature adulthood seasoned with frustration with no reward for growing up.

They agreed the youth as a child must know who he is, where he comes from and where he is going with a set goal of his choice by normal standards in home, church and school influence.

Therefore, the use of drugs is a rebellion against the social establishment while the parents — they say — use alcohol, tranquilizers, tobacco and pills for their escape, and hence the attitude that there is nothing wrong in the "easy way out," because everybody does it.

In other words, self gratification is the magic solution to anything that hurts because everybody is hooked on something, not drugs necessarily.

The moral and religious breakdown in America is another factor contributing to addiction, since Italy has the lowest in the world because they are dedicated to moral and religious principles.

There is harmony in religion in home practice as in the church as a way of life.

In America the things practiced in the church seem irrelevant to our way of life — giving the impression by the kids — since my parents are hypocrites religion has no meaning.

There must be an example set and a very sincere one rekindled with new meaning for our youth — say the experts and if we do not — drug addiction will grow worse.

Sincerely,
EDWIN J. HIGBY

Cooperation Appreciated

Editor, The Freeman

Everyone is aware of the power of the media but not everyone is aware of the generous cooperation media extends to the community. We, here at the Mid-Hudson Heart Association, are aware and appreciative. We know that without your help we could not possible carry on our program let alone engage in a successful Heart Fund Campaign.

We are, therefore, happy to take this opportunity to extend our heartfelt thanks and to assure you that we are cognizant of the role you play in the success of our program. We recognize that you serve not only during the Heart Fund Campaign but year round to give us publicity for the job we are engaged in namely; that of providing Professional Education, Public Health Education, Community Service and Fund Raising, among other of our programs.

In the interest of all those you have helped us to help and in the name of the Mid-Hudson Heart Association, May I again assure you of our deep appreciation and thanks.

"The applications, which were made to the local GOP committee, required applicants to state if they had been active in Republican politics, what work they had done for the party in the last two years, how many hours a week they can devote to the party plus a pledge of specific activity in future campaigns and "names" of two friends you recommend as new Republican workers."

Bellayre Ski Closing

Editor, The Freeman

For the devoted skier, seldom has there been a more bitter pill to swallow than the arbitrary closing on April 6th of the Bellayre Ski Center by the New York State Conservation Department. After an almost unprecedented season, (114 days), excellent snowfall, (162" to date), record attendance at the area, and with the mountain covered with upwards of 3' of snow and some of the finest ski conditions remaining in the East, the decision to close the area now at the beginning of a most promising season of Spring skiing, allegedly for lack of operating funds budgeted is completely incomprehensible. The sight of all that snow going to waste while other operators grudgingly close down because of lack of cover brings tears to the eyes of brave men! It is a classic example of bureaucratic inefficientcy.

Perhaps the ultimate irony lies in the fact ahat the New York State Legislature has just voted $425,090 for the installation of snowmaking equipment at Belleayre to lengthen the ski season and thus boost the economy of the area. Now it remains to be seen if enough funds will be budgeted for the 1970-71 season so that this munificence can be enjoyed by the skier, or if he will be forced to sit by and watch his own tax-supported, man-made snow melt down the mountainside.

Arrest 2 Youths For Theft of Taped Album

KINGSTON

Two 16-year-old youths were arrested Saturday by security officers at Britts Store in Kingston Shopping Plaza, in connection with the alleged theft of an 8-track tape cartridge titled "The Age of Aquarius" by the Fifth Dimension.

Charles Elmendorf, of Cicone's Trailer Park, Lake Katrine, was charge with conspiracy, fourth degree, and Gary B. Faerber, of 28 Griffin Drive, was booked for petit larceny. Both youths were slated for City Court appearance.

The arresting officers noted in the complaint that Elmendorf acted as a lookout while the other youth allegedly took the tape valued at $6.95.

Cancer Crusade Seeks Help

KINGSTON

The special gifts phase of this year's Ulster County Cancer Crusade was announced this week by Dennis L. Pitcock, county campaign chairman.

Michael A. Pagliaro, personnel director of Kingston Hospital has been named special gifts chairman and heads a committee to reach all area professional men and others who make substantial contributions to the campaign.

The special gifts team will include Dr. James R. Clarkin, who is chairman of the physician's section; Dr. Henry P. Jacobs, in charge of the dentist's section, and Edward T. Feeney, who will conduct the drive for the lawyer's section.

Chairman Pitcock said "We regard this year's crusade as an opportunity to remind the public that there are 1.5 million Americans today who are cured of cancer.

"The earlier cancer is detected, the better the chance of a cure. It is for that reason that the health checkup, including cancer tests, is so important. The safeguards to be taught in the course of crusade emphasizes these tests as well as personal detection measures," he said.

"Today we are saving one out of three cancer patients. With our present knowledge, we could save one out of two — if people put these safeguards into action.

"The entire emphasis of Crusade 1970 is on action: The action of protecting oneself against cancer, the action of protecting others through support of cancer research.

"Each dollar given goes to work in so many ways to fight this cruel disease," He said. "Through its three-fold program, the American Cancer Society educates the public, keeps the medical profession informed on the latest in treatment and research, provides services to the cancer patient while searching for a final solution to cancer through research," he concluded.

WHITA Group to Scrutinize Problems in New Paltz Area

NEW PALTZ

A special meeting of WHITA (We've Had It Taxpayers Association of Ulster County, Inc., has been scheduled in New Paltz on April 29 at the office of Peter Harp, an attorney.

The purpose of the meeting will be to discuss certain assessment inequities in the Village and Town of New Paltz relating to the college which have been discovered and made public by Harp, an attorney of that community.

In a letter recently sent to members of the Board of Governors of WHITA, Harp stated: "Upon the 1970 Town Tax rolls, the valuation of the college is set forth as $11,614,200; the Faculty Student's Association as $29,100 and the taxable real estate as $2,891,760. There is 4.12 times as much New York State exempt property as those who pay the real estate taxes. These do not include the $29,100 exempted under the Student Faculty Association, which is illegal. The cash per capita received by the local government from the State New York is about 12 per cent or ⅛ of the average total cost of per capita necessary to run the local unit."

In addition, Harp has made the following charges with respect to the New York State Department of Education: "Attempting to protect, help, aid and assist that professor who is indicted by the Ulster County Grand Jury for larceny in the shoplifting of several shirts under his topcoat. He should be suspended without pay until justice in this matter is administered. This is one of the professors who advised and encouraged the students to riot, strike and defy the laws of this land. After conviction by jury last month he was fined $50. He is still on the faculty and payroll of the college. This case and trial cost the taxpayers large sums of money."

The New Paltz attorney has also charged that 12 color TV's that were to be used in the various college buildings at new Paltz College were "sold through a fence in New Jersey and the proceeds divided among those involved." He further alleges that those in charge at the college simply state, "When we submit our proposed budget we expect and allow for a certain percentage of pilfering."

The public is invited to attend this meeting in New Paltz and bring before the Board of Directors of WHITA any matter of interest to the community in which WHITA might be helpful. The meeting will begin at 7:45 p.m. at 81 Route 209, New Paltz, in the offices of Harp & Harp.

Senior Citizen Seminar May 16

KINGSTON

Plans for the Senior Citizens Seminar for all Senior Citizens of the county, sponsored by the Senior Citizens Advisory Council and scheduled for May 16th at Algonquin Hall, Ulster County Community College, are well underway, according to a statement issued today by Alexander Yosman, Coordinator of the Council.

Yosman urged all Senior Citizens of the County to make plans to attend the Seminar as the entire Seminar is for their benefit and is planned to provide an exchange of ideas and to bring them up to date on new programs. Yosman said that the program format has been completed and that he was awaiting letters of acceptance by panel members to appear on the program. He said that letters were being mailed to all Town Supervisors, County Legislators, Aldermen, Mayors, our State Assemblyman, Senator, Congressman and organizations interested in helping the Senior Citizen of the County, asking them to attend the Seminar. Yosman asked all organizations interested in helping the Senior Citizens, who did not receive a letter, to make plans to attend the Seminar. He asked that they phone the Advisory Council and advise who would represent the organization.

Yosman said that the Seminar will start at 10:00 a.m. and terminate at 2:00 p.m. The Council plans to furnish cake, coffee and tea. Yosman hoped that the transportation problem in getting the Senior Citizen to the College may be overcome by Civic, Church or other groups checking with the Senior Citizens of their area or neighborhood and settling up a volunteer transportation pool. Yosman said that additional information in relation to the program will be published as confirmations are received.

The Senior Citizen's Advisory Council consists of representatives from Ulster County Social Services, Social Security Administration, New York State Employment Service, Kingston Housing Authority, Kingston Recreation Commission, Ulster County Health Department, Ulster County Bar Association and Salvation Army.

Lions Club Expo Features Health 'Screenining Program'

KINGSTON

The "screening program," conducted by the Bureau of Chronic Disease and Geriatrics of the New York State Health Department, will be one of the main features at the Kingston Lions Club 23rd Annual Exposition, April 28-May 2 at the State Armory on Manor Avenue.

At a recent planning meeting it was decided that the Bureau would conduct health tests including, Vision, Glaucoma, Diabetes, Pulmonary Function and Height and Weight. Glaucoma, vision and pulmonary function testing will be limited to persons 40 years of age and over. Diabetes testing will be availabe to all persons 21 years of age and over.

The program will comence on Tuesday, April 28 and run for three consecutive days, with sessions on Wednesday and Thursday afternoons. Evening sessions will run from 7 to 9 p.m., with registration from 7 to 8 p.m. Afternoon sessions will run from 2 to 4 p.m., with registrations from 2 to 3 p.m. The testing will run from Tuesday evening, April 28 to Thursday, April 30, with afternoon sessions on Wednesday and Thursday. The total registration for each session will not exceed 200 people.

The Bureau of Chronic Disease will supply two Orthaorators, general supervision and instructions for the Vision test. A technician, tonometers and all related equipment and supplies for the Glaucoma test will be provided by the Bureau. The test for Diabetes will involve three technicians who will do all blood drawing and unopettes, pipettes and all related equipment and supplies will be provided by the Bureau. A technician, vitalor and all supplies necessary for the Pulmonary Function test will be provided by the Bureau, as well as general supervision and a scale for the height and weight test. The Bureau will also supply numbered forms and general supervision for registration.

The Bureau of Chronic Disease and Geriatrics will issue negative reports to individual participants and send report of positive findings to the Ulster County Health Department.

Funeral Services Slated For Novelist John O'Hara

By United Press International

PRINCETON, N.J. (UPI)—Funeral services for famed novelist John O'Hara, who first gained recognition in 1934 with his "Appointment in Samarra," will be held at noon Thursday at the Princeton University chapel.

O'Hara, who died in his sleep of a heart attack Saturday at his secluded White Manor house which he called Linebrook, will be buried during private ceremonies at Princeton Cemetery. He was 65.

The novelist, suffering from a heart ailment for the past year, died when he was 70 pages in the sequel of his latest book, "The Ewing," which was scheduled for publication in February, 1971. He spent his days in the woods in this picturesque university community since he moved here in 1953.

Jersey Man Killed

HARRIMAN, N.Y. (UPI) — Paul Gencorelli, 18, of Cedar Grove, N.J., was killed Sunday evening when his car ran off the southbound section of the Thruway and overturned twice, coming to rest on its roof in a northbound lane.

Returns to Life In Preparation For Transplant

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Before the death of Mark A. Browne, 8, who was suffering from an inoperable brain tumor, his mother gave hospital officials permission to transplant his kidneys and eyes.

What followed was a situation a family spokesman described as a "nightmare" for his mother, Mrs. Sandy Kindred of Costa Mesa, Calif.

Marks was declared clincially dead Friday night. He was placed on a life-imitating machine which keeps blood circulating until transplants can be performed. But the machine revived the boy.

He was returned to a regular hospital room, but was given no chance to survive by doctors who called his condition extremely poor.

The mother was advised the first time he died and then when she learned of his revival went through what was described as "a nightmare" waiting for him to die again.

At 2:05 a.m. PST Saturday he was pronounced clincally dead a second time. The transplant was performed immediately afterwards.

A children's hospital spokesman said the boy who received Mark's kidney was in good condition.

Kingston Firemen Have Busy Weekend

KINGSTON

A rash of big and little fires kept Kingston Fire Department on the go all weekend.

Engine 3, Cornell Station, is still on the scene of Friday's huge conflagration at the Millens Junkyard building at East Strand. Firemen are still pouring water on the building and maintaining a watch. No estimate of damage has been made.

A fire of incendiary origin along the railroad tracks near Millens was also reported at 6:10 Saturday night. Kingston Police Lt. William Schreiber is investigating.

Saturday noon firemen also fought a brush fire on North Street with Deputy Harry Sills in charge and at 1:01 p.m. answered a call at the Quality Maple Block Company Inc., Deyo Street, where lumber and brush in back of the building were heavily involved in fire and threatened damage to nearby buildings. The cause of the fire was determined as incendiary and the Police Department was requested to investigate. Firemen checked the roof and interior of the Maple Block Building, owned by Melrose Moss, as well as adjoining buildings.

A shed fire at the rear of the Kingston Knitting Mills was reported Sunday at 3:38 a.m. Two vacant garages at the 80 Bruyn Avenue address, owned by George Johnson Jr. of 69 Liberty Street, were completely damaged. The cause being incendiary, the Police Department has been asked to investigate.

Two fires at 44 North Street were reported Sunday, the first at 11:50 a.m. at the rear of the property near railroad tracks. A large pile of junk cars were involved in the fire. At 5:50 p.m. the second call was sounded and firemen extinguished a fire in a truck on the property. The blaze was thought to have started in rags and extended to cartons. Deputy Sills was in charge and police are investigating.

Route 23A Crash

Mrs. Bonnie Amduhl of 160 Second Street, Troy, complained of bruised ribs when the car in which she was a passenger went off the road travelling east on Route 23A in the Town of Catskill.

The operator of the car, Edward A. Amduhl, her husband, became distracted when Mrs. Amduhl thought that she had accidentally thrown a lighted cigarette in the back of the car.

Mrs. Amduhl was taken to Greene County Memorial Hospital.

SENTENCED — A military court convicted 27 persons Sunday of the Democratic Defense Opposition Movement, of trying to overthrow Greece's military-backed government. Paris journalist Jean Starakis (L) and Athens University Professor Alexandros Mangakis (R) shown here after the trial in Athens, Greece, were sentenced to 18-years imprisonment each. The prosecution had asked for the death penalty in the case of Mangakis. (UPI CABLEPHOTO).

Memoriam

In loving memory of Catherine Smith, who passed away April 12, 1965.

We do not forget her,
We love her too dearly
For her memory to fade
From our lives like a dream.
Our lips need not speak
When our hearts mourn sincerely,
For grief often dwells
Where it seldom is seen.

Goodell Against Nixon in '72 If Vietnam War Is Not Over

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sen. Charles E. Goodell, R- N. Y., said Sunday he would work against President Nixon's re-election in 1972 if the Vietnam war was not over by that time.

Goodell said he planned to present a resolution urging that the United States not send troops to Laos or Cambodia. It would be similar to his resolution calling for withdrawal of all American troops from Vietnam.

While asserting he still had an "open mind" on Nixon for 1972, Goodell, himself a candidate for election this year, repeated past criticism of the administration's foreign and domestic policies.

"If this (Vietnam) war is not ended in 1972," he said flatly, "I will have to oppose him.'

Goodell indicated he did not want or expect Nixon to campaign for him in New York State this year.

He said that Nixon has "managed to calm the surface voter, but there is still conflict under the surface" over Vietnam.

In addition to Vietnam, Goodell has opposed Nixon on his nominations of Clement Haynsworth and G. Harrold Carswell to the U.S. Supreme Court, on the antiballistic missile program and on other issues.

Buffalo Police Probe Source of Dynamite Cache

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — City police attempted today to discover the source of seven sticks of ready - to - explode dynamite found in a cardboard box Sunday outside a Buffalo firm.

Police said the dynamite had been placed outside the entrance to Crawford Door Sales of Buffalo. They said a group of children at play discovered the explosives.

The dynamite, police said, was badly deteriorated and could have been set off by any careless or sudden movement. The sticks were taken to a suburban construction firm for burial.

Investigators said they had not determined the source of the explosive or a motive for planting it outside the firm.

Crawford Door Sales is located at 587 Winslow Ave.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market opened mixed in moderate turnover today.

American Telephone is expected to get special attention from traders with announcement of final terms of the biggest corporate financing in history, designed to raise approximately $3.1 billion in fresh capital for the world's most widely held stock. AT&T set at 8¾ per cent the interest rate for its debentures to be issued with warrants, and also established a price of $52 at which stock may be bought with the warrants.

As to the market in general, concern still centers around the gloomy outlook for first quarter corporate profits and the continued slowing in the economy.

Shortly after the opening, the UPI marketwide indicator showed a loss of 0.01 per cent on 349 issues crossing the tape. Declines edged advances, 130 to 120.

American Telephone opened unchanged at 50¾ on a block of 20,000 shares.

In the oil group, Occidental picked up ⅛ to 20⅝, while Jersey Standard held unchanged at 56. Standard of California gained ⅛ to 44⅝, but Standard of Ohio lost ½ to 66 and Texaco ⅛ to 25⅞.

Paltz Man Gun Victim

BULLVILLE

Leonard J. Bell of 1 Canaan Road, New Paltz, died Saturday after reportedly shooting himself at his mother's home in Bullville.

Middletown State Police said Bell, 33, apparently shot himself with a .22 caliber gun in a barn on his mother's property. He was admitted to the Horton Memorial Hospital in Middletown at 1:30 p. m. and died at 6:12 p. m. the hospital authorities said.

Bell was born in Manhattan but had resided in Bullville and New Paltz all his life, except for two years in the Navy from 1956 to 1958.

He attended Bullville grade school and was graduated from Pine Bush School. At the time of his death, he was a model maker for IBM in Poughkeepsie.

Besides his mother, Mrs. John Bell, the Bullville postmistress, surviving are his wife June; two sons, William and John; two daughters Lori and June Ann and several aunts, uncles and cousins.

Mass will be said in St. Paul's Church, Bullville, Tuesday. Burial will be in Bullville Cemetery. Funeral arrangements are under the direction of the Adrian DeWitt Funeral Home in Pine Bush. There will be no calling hours at the funeral home.

Hijacked Ship Arrives at Philippine Base

SUBIC BAY, Philippines (AP) — Columbia Eagle, the U.S. munitions ship held three weeks in Cambodian waters after two crewmen hijacked it, arrived at the U.S. Navy's Subic Bay base today.

The freighter prepared to unload her 1,750-ton cargo of bombs and ammunition, which she was carrying to U.S. forces in Thailand when the hijackers seized the ship March 16.

The hijackers tricked 24 crewmen overboard in a lifeboat and sailed into Sihanoukville, Cambodia, with 15 crewmen and the captain, Donald Swann. The crewmen from the lifeboat were picked up by a sister ship.

Common Stock Investment For Keogh Plan

Q—I am interested in setting up a retirement plan under the Keogh Act but do not want a mutual fund, retirement bonds or an annuity. What I would like to do is buy common stock for retirement. Is this possible?—T. O.

A—Yes, a common stock investment program can be set up which will qualify under the Self-Employed Individuals Tax Retirement Act of 1962, as amended. The program is handled through a participating brokerage firm with a bank acting as trustee. For the individual needing guidance in his investments, this type of program can be arranged through some investment management firm.

In order to qualify for special tax treatments, your plan must fulfill the requirements of Internal Revenue Code 401 and 501. You will also be required to enter into several legal agreements. Because the Keogh Act is complex and implementation of a plan is complicated, you should seek legal assistance before starting any plan.

Q — Should I sell Stanray bought at the 1969 high? Are there any prospects of recovery?—K. H.

A—While downside risk at recent depressed levels appears minimal, recovery may be held back by restrictive economic conditions over the next several months. If, however, you are willing to wait it out, Stanray appears to have a number of factors in its favor. An increased level of orders for loading ramps and other equipment for the Boeing 747 has pushed backlog to capacity.

Sales this year of Stanray's structural steel fabricating division for $3 million will finance a doubling of capacity in the company's ground support equipment operations. Rail equipment order backlog is also at record levels. Dependence on this highly cyclical industry has been reduced — now accounting for only 25 per cent of annual sales — through an aggressive program of acquisition.

Near-term profits will be restricted by increased interest charges, a small nonrecurring loss from the sale of its steel fabricating operations and probable continued softness in its lumber product business. Offsetting these factors are the high level of orders and elimination of marginal operations.

Nutmeg Stater Charged After House Entry

ELLENVILLE

Bail was set at $5,000 this morning for Wayne Hazelton, 34, of New Haven, Conn., who was charged with being armed and breaking and entering the home of Nathan Weiss, 28 Warren Street, Ellenville, at 12:48 a.m. today.

Entry was made by prying a rear window according to Patrolmen Warren Hull and Anthony Yerks of Ellenville Police Department.

Hazelton, who was armed with a knife while in the residence, was taken into custody at gunpoint and charged with first degree burglary. Police said he was apparently looking for something to eat.

Arraigned before Justice Ronald Elias, he was given a court-appointed attorney, Benjamin Lonstein and the case was postponed until Tuesday at 7 p.m.

Koenig, Savago to Speak

Scout Leaders Meeting at Skytop

KINGSTON

More than 70 leaders of various civic organizations involved in local Boy Scout work will gather at the Skytop Restaurant on April 14 to hear proposals for the future of scouting in the area and discussions of the importance of the Boy Scout program by Kingston Mayor Francis R. Koenig and County Legislature Chairman Peter J. Savago.

The goal of the Onteora Trail District, according to David L. Sullivan, district committee chairman, is to see a representative one-third of the boys and young men in the district enrolled in the Boy Scouts of America in the next six years.

The Onteora Trail District stretches from Belleayre Mountain to the west to the Hudson River to the east and to the southern boundary of Greene County on the North and the Townships of Esopus, Hurley and Olive to the south.

Each church, service organization or industry that charters a Boy Scout unit appoints a man, called an institutional representative, to serve as its local manager of Scouting. He takes an active part in selecting and recruiting unit leaders and committeemen and gives continual supervision to the success of the unit program. He is also his sponsoring institution's voice as a member of the Council and a member of the District Committee. He relays the needs of his unit or units to the committee and carries information on district programs and service back to his home unit.

The District Committee has been highly active in the past year, sponsoring a Camporee at the Town of Ulster park grounds in October that attracted more than 400 adults and Scouts. In February over 200 boys pulled "dog sleds" through "Arctic towns" on the snow covered grounds of the Ulster County Fair Grounds, during District Klondike Derby. In March the largest local Scout Spectacular ever was held in the New York State Armory with more than 3,500 persons participating.

JAMBO, 1970 will be held June 4-6 one mile north of the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge and just east of the main IBM Recreation Center.

"The district is the basic administrative body in our movement," Sullivan said. "It will be here that we win or lose our concerted efforts to utilize Scouting as a vehicle to contribute to the growth and continued success of our nation."

The district committee has operating committees in camping, health and safety, training, exploring, activities, organization and extension and finance.

"Some 39 Cub Pack, Boy Scout Troops and Explorer Posts look to these operating committees for the day-to-day help needed to make their jobs with the boys more meaningful," Sullivan said.

"Our goal is to strenthen the district committee," Sullivan said. "A strong district committee means a strong Scouting program in our area."

Guest speakers at the dinner, set for 6:30 p.m., will include Koenig, Savago and Sullivan. An award will also be presented to the family of Howard Hopkins Sr. for his 35 years of Scouting activity in the Glenford area. Hopkins was recently hospitalized.

SCOUTING ENDORSEMENT — Mayor Francis R. Koenig is shown with David L. Sullivan, district committee chairman of the Onteora Trail District, at the mayor's office. Koenig and Ulster County Legislature Chairman Peter J. Savago have endorsed the Boy Scout program in Ulster County and will be guest speakers at a dinner on April 14. (Freeman photo by Haines).

Crespino Gains Ulster Hose Award

TOWN OF ULSTER

Presentation of awards highlighted the annual banquet of Ulster Hose Company 5, Inc., held recently at the Flamingo Restaurant in Saugerties in observance of the 26th anniversary of the unit.

The most coveted award, the Fireman of the Year, was presented to Charles Crespino for attending the most fires, training sessions and meetings. James Alkire received the achievement award for being the best all-around fireman during last year.

John T. Frederick received his life membership pin, while LeRoy Thomas Sr., was presented with a 20-year pin. Those receiving 15-year-pins were Lewis Every, Alex Kachura and Norman Caunitz Sr. Leroy Thomas Jr., and Donald Crespino were awarded 10-year pins and 5-year pins went to Charles Crespino, James Peterson and Thomas Turco.

After the presentations, Mrs. Luella Klemchusky, president of the unit's auxiliary, presented Robert Metscher, chairman of the new building committee with a $1,000 check to aid in construction of the $45,000 addition to the firehouse on Albany Avenue. The check was presented on behalf of the auxiliary.

Chief William Williams Jr., addressed the banquet group and told of the progress that has been made by voluntary inspections of stores by firemen He told of the teams comprised of firemen in training sessions that allows the volunteers better chances of becoming familiar with the equipment.

Williams also reported on progress on letting bids for a new diesel 1,000-gallon-per-minute pumper to be stationed at Station 1. He noted that because of the addition to the latter station the aerial ladder was moved there for greater protection of business and residential districts.

The chief also reported that in March, Ulster Hose Company responded to 11 alarms including four structural fires, one electrical and a brush fire.

Health Commissioner on Job

DR. WILLIAM C. TAYLOR..

KINGSTON

Dr. William C. Taylor, new health commissioner for Ulster County assumed his duties at the County Office Building this week. He replaces Dr. Vernon B. Link who resigned to accept a similar position in Dutchess County.

Dr. Taylor, who received his medical degree from Albany Medical Center in 1947, has been in private practice in pediatrics in Jamestown from 1959 until the present.

Born in Ann Arbor, Michigan, he attended school in Tarrytown, N.Y. and graduated from Union College Schenectady in 1940. After a brief career as a school teacher in Massachusettes, Dr. Taylor served in the United States Army Air Corps and returned home to study medicine.

An assistant resident and later resident in pediatrics at Albany Hospital, he first entered private practice in Utica and served as medical director of the Utica Cerebral Palsy Clinic.

He is a diplomate of the National Board of Medical Examiners and American Board of Pediatrics and is a member of a number of county, state and national medical societies.

Active in civic life, Dr. Taylor has contributed time and effort to such organizations as United Fund, Easter Seal Society and in school affairs.

Dr. Taylor's wife and sons expect to move to the Kingston area soon His youngest son will enter his junior year in high school next fall, another is attending Bowling Green University in Ohio and the third is married and a member of the Air Force.

Troop 12 Indians To Receive Award

KINGSTON

United Commercial Travelers, Kingston Council 356, will make a presentation of a banner flag to the Troop 12 Indians Drum & Bugle Corps; current Hudson Valley Drum Corps Association champions. The presentation will be made at Arnolds Restaurant on April 16.

The flag will feature an Indian with a tomahawk in one hand and a bugle in the other hand, doing a war dance on a drum with puffs of smoke by his feet. This is the official emblem of the Indians Drum & Bugle Corps.

Charles Ryan, chairman for the Grand Community Service Committee for the State of New York, David Gruberg executive committeeman, and Ralph Marallo chairman of the Promotion Committee, are the men who were most active in the origination of the presentation. When Kingston Council 356 became aware of this need for banner flags, immediate action was taken and the flag was purchased.

Gruberg said that it is time for the youth of our community to be made aware that the adults are in solid support of their positive efforts.

The program for the evening will include the regular monthly business meeting and the installation of officers for the coming year.

Program Set At Bailey School

KINGSTON

The Guidance Program—It's purpose and function and How Parents can participate will be the subject of a program at the J. Watson Bailey School auditorium on April 14 at 8 p.m.

The Kingston Consolidated School's Guidance Department will discuss the guidance program. It will be especially helpful to parents whose children will be entering Kingston High School next semester.

C-D Police Meet Tonight

KINGSTON

The Kingston-Ulster County C-D Auxiliary Police will hold a traffic control session tonight at 7:30 p.m.

Sixth Anniversary

Kingston Plaza Sets Celebration

KINGSTON

The sixth anniversary celebration of the the opening of Kingston Plaza will take place on the week of April 16 through 25.

This will be the biggest birthday sale celebration since the plaza opened on April 16, according to Paul J. Sullivan, president of the Kingston Plaza Merchants Association. Plaza merchants will feature special values in all stores.

On April 18, there will be a "Ping Pong ball drop" in which 1,000 ping pong balls will be dropped over the Kingston Plaza. Five hundred of these ping pong balls will be redeemable for prizes at the plaza stores. In case of bad weather, this will be held on April 25.

On April 25, there will be a drawing for a trip to Puerto Rico. The trip will be for two persons who will fly to Puerto Rico for five days and six nights.

Also on Saturday, April 25, Jo Jo the clown will be on hand in the plaza from 12 to 3 p.m. There will be free train rides for the children on the famous "40 and 8" train. Free balloons will be given away during this time.

Kingston Plaza merchants invite all to celebrate their sixth year together.

EXPANDS SERVICE — Kingston Cablevision is bringing service to Old Hurley William Krajci (center standing) general manager, and Richard Scism, (r) technical supervisor with Edgar Moralis (l) are shown inspecting the construction now under way to bring cable television to the residents of Depot Road, Old Route 209, Riverside Avenue, Riverside Park, Fairview Avenue, Cedar Street, Hillside Avenue and Altmont Drive. Krajci stresses the need for a better informed community and said, "an informed community is a community with direction and future." The construction will be completed within 90 days. Johnson Salesmen Receive Honors

KINGSTON

Five salesmen from Johnson Ford, Inc., were honored for outstanding sales performance during 1969 at a Ford 300-500 Club program recently at the Concord Hotel, Kiamesha Lake. The club was founded in 1950 to recognize the performance of outstanding Ford salesmen throughout the country.

Local Ford retail salesmen who qualified for 300-500 Club membership were Tony Rallo, James W. Cave, L. J. Hanaman, George H. Johnston and James C. Babb.

"Excellent retail sales performance is the basis for entry into the 300-500 Club," said a spokesman from the Ford Division's Newark district. "The average member sold nearly $500,000 worth of automotive merchandise during 1969 to qualify for the national honor."

Banking Banquet Slated April 18

KINGSTON

The annual award to the banker who has contributed the most in promoting the objectives of the American Institute of Banking will be made at the Ulster County Chapter of the American Institute of Banking annual banquet.

The banquet will be held on April 18 at Oehler's Mountain Lodge. A dutch treat cocktail hour will begin at 6:30 p.m. followed by dinner at 7:30 p.m. Dancing will immediately follow the dinner. Tickets may be purchased by calling William Fitzgibbons, Kingston Trust Company or Walter Colclough, State of New York National Bank.

The American Institute of Banking, an educational section of the American Bankers Association and the largest adult educational organization of its type in the world, provides an opportunity for bank people to acquire a broad and comprehensive education in banking.

11 Area Insurancemen To Attend Conference

KINGSTON

Eleven representatives of the Prudential Insurance Company's Kingston District Agency will attend the regional business conference of the Northeastern Region at the Sheraton-British Colonial Hotel in Nassau, Bahamas from May 6-9.

The group comprises W. A. DePauw, manager, and staff managers James D. Edmonds, Michael J. Mangi, Paul R. Chauncey, Vincent R. Borges, and Agents Robert Desmond, Elmer Elliott, Leon Goodrich, Raymond Radel, Roy Tweedie and Oscar Wiltse.

The four-day session will feature programs and seminars in advanced insurance subjects. Speakers will include executives from the company's Northeastern home office in Boston, Mass.

Spartan Pool Dealer Installing Domes

KINGSTON

Today's pool owner has a choice of whether he will use his pool in the summer or throughout the year. A larger percent of residential pool owners take the latter course and they enjoy their swimming in the nippy early Spring weather by installation of a pool heater and an inflatable, vinyl dome.

The dome has a windless atmosphere comfortably warmed by the heated water. The somewhat higher humidity within the dome reduces the cooling effect of evaporating moisture from the swimmer's body.

A new, revolutionary, inflatable dome permits pressurized air within the dome to be completely sealed in through the use of weights water sleeves that hug the deck. The dome reduces the work of the heater as it is an effective solar heater itself. The sun's rays passing through the dome are converted to heat, raising the temperature within the dome and heating the pool inductively.

Michael Perry, dealer for Spartan Pools, is located on East Chester Street By-pass.

Caldor Lists Appointment

Caldor, Inc., one of the nation's fastest growing retail discount store chains, has announced appointment of Michael Newsom to the new posititon of tire-batteries-auto accessories supervisor. In his new capacity he will have responsibility for supervising operations in the five TBA's in the Caldor chain.

Newsom, a former Marine Corps sergeant who attended Ohio State University and Nevada State College, held responsible positions with major oil and gasoline companies prior to joining Caldor. He and his wife, Anna and their four children Tim, Terry, Tony and Tammy, reside in Wallingford, Conn.

Fire Watches Manned At Cornell University

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — The first of a planned series of fire watches at troubled Cornell University ended at dawn today in the wake of Sunday's firebombing of a campus library.

The watch, manned by a group of faculty and campus staff volunteers, will be kept as long as necessary, said Cornell Provost Robert A. Plane.

Campus safety division spokesmen said two firebombs were hurled through second-story windows early Sunday morning at the Olin Library.

Following that, several windows were broken at the library and at the campus administration building. A fire was reported in a wastebasket at Willard Straight Hall, a student union.

All three blazes were quickly extinguished, officials said, and damage was listed as minimal.

Cornell has been the scene of student unrest for one week since black students presented a set of demands to the administration in protest over the burning of their black studies center April 1.

A campus bookstore was ransacked by a group of blacks and on Wednesday, a band of up to 150 black students went on an hour-long rampage that resulted in the breaking of 54 windows, setting of a bonfire and overturning at least one car.

Name New Saugerties Conservative Leader

RONALD B. DEAK

SAUGERTIES

Ronald B. Deak has been appointed as Conservative Party chairman for the Town of Saugerties. The appointment was announced by Ulster County Conservative Chairman Harry S. Hoffman, following approval by the county Executive Committee, to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of former Town Chairman Frank X. Greimel due to business committments.

Deak, 36, is a math teacher at the Saugerties Junior High School, and owns a retail paint and wallpaper business in Kingston. He is a graduate electrical engineer from the Polytechnic Institute of Brooklyn, and resides on Band Camp Road in Blue Mountain with his wife Elizabeth and five children. Deak is also active in the Saugerties Rotary Club as Bulletin editor and Interact chairman.

Deak was a committeeman and vice president of the Horsham Township Republican Association in Montgomery County, Pa., and a part-time political reporter for a newspaper chain in that area. After moving to Saugerties seven years ago, he enrolled in the Conservative Party, and has been a local committeeman, here for the last three years and treasurer of the Saugerties club.

In a statement following his appointment, Deak had high praise for outgoing chairman Frank Greimel. "Frank has elevated our town organization from a meager beginning to a substantial and cohesive body of voters who are dedicated to working toward the election of responsible candidates for local and higher public offices. He has accomplished this through high personal sacrifice of time and finance and has established precedents in his activities which will be extremely difficult to surpass. Frank deserves the thanks of all Saugerties residents interested in responsible and commonsense principles of government."

Deak then called for the election of candidates dedicated to fiscal responsibility in all levels of government, a strong sense of patriotism and pride in our system of government, and support of our local and town police in their efforts to make Saugerties a safe place to live and work.

He also expressed hope in building a strong local committee organization in all 14 districts of Saugerties, which will make it a policy to personally call on all registered Conservatives at least once a year.

"We would also like to fully cooperate with the Republican and Democrat parties in mutual support of conservative-minded candidates," Deak concluded.

DAR Unit Hosts Talk On Problems of Youth

SAUGERTIES

An informational topic on the youth of today was presented at the recent meeting of Saugerties Chapter DAR held at the home of Mrs. Carroll Neiffer, with Regent Mrs. Lewis Gaylord presiding.

Representatives from the Saugerties Handicraft Club, Saugerties Monday Club, and the American Legion Auxiliary were in attendance to hear the guest speaker, William Hayes, vice principal of the Saugerties Central School System, speak on "What Is the Matter With Our Youth Today."

Hayes stated that he does not think there is any more wrong with today's young people than those of any other generation. He feels the influence of the newspapers, TV, and other news media blow these things up to proportions that do not relate to the actual facts. We are apt to hear only about the disturbing actions of today's youth but nothing about the overwhelming majority of commendable young people; these do not make the headlines.

Hayes thinks that basically the problem is a question of growth in the country. As the country gets larger everything becomes less personal. We can provide a child with a good example, but we cannot tell him what is right or wrong. We have improved education to such a state that we don't know how to cope with it.

"We have told our youth to question and that is exactly what he is doing," Hayes continued. "We read so much about a sick society but what about the successful society — the good police, the good doctors, the good lawyers, the good politicians. Just speak about our own school system. We should all give credit to the Interact Club with its work in Appalachia, and the Sigma Club and its work with the Senior Citizens and the neighborhood youth work. These are the type of things that should be published more frequently about our youth."

Hayes' final comment was "We hear about the generation gap but I believe it really is a communications gap."

Following Hayes' thought-provoking comments a very interesting discussion period was held.

The next meeting of the Saugerties Chapter will be held at the home of Mrs. William Brinnier on May 6. At this time Miss Helen Vrooman will give the report on the 79th Continental Congress which was held in Washington, D.C. during the latter part of April.

The May meeting will be the final business meeting of the year.

Chorale Scheduled At Old Dutch Church

GREGORY GOIDA

Plattsburgh State University College Chorale, composed of 26 young men and women, will be singing at the Old Dutch Church, Kingston, on Friday, April 17 at 8 p.m. Selected from among Plattsburgh's 3,700 students, the Chorale represents all four undergraduate classes and a variety of majors.

The Chorale, one of several musical organizations on the Plattsburgh campus, is on a Concert Tour which began with an invitation to participate at the first University-Wide Choral Festival at Oswego on April 10. Programs will be given at colleges, high schools, and churches in New York and New Jersey. The tour will conclude with a performance in the new multi-million dollar John P. Myers Fine Arts Building on the Plattsburgh campus April 19. Compositions to be performed will include selections from a wide variety of musical styles and periods.

The Chorale is under the direction of Gregory Goida who received his training at Westminster Choir College, Eastman School of Music, Indiana University, University or Montana and University of Southern California. Before coming to Plattsburgh, Mr. Goida taught at Montana State University, University of the Pacific, Westmont College, Barrington College, and was Chairman of the Music Department at Roberts Wesleyan College. In 1965, Goida directed a college choir on a concert tour of ten European countries. For his contribution to choral music, he has received awards and citations from the United States Military, National Sunday School Foundation, Boy Scouts of America, and from the governments of Germany and Italy.

The State University College at Plattsburgh, a public, coeducational institution, is one of 10 Colleges of Arts and Science in the 68-campus network comprising the State University of New York.

Middagh-Macmillan Nuptials Announced; Bride Is Former Kingston Resident

MRS. ALEXANDER J. MACMILLAN
(Werk photo)

Miss JoAnn Middagh, formerly of Kingston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Middagh, 512 Northeast 75 Street, Miami, Fla., became the bride of Alexander J. Macmillan, son of Mrs. Gertrude Macmillan, 16103 Northeast 19 Court, Miami, Fla., Saturday, Apr. 11, at Biscayne Boulevard Lutheran Church. The bride is the niece of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Middagh and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Puetz, all of Kingston.

The Rev. Jacob Jerstad officiated at the double ring ceremony. Arrangements of yellow and white carnations and chrysanthemums decorated the altar.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride selected a gown styled with long lace sleeves and accented with a beaded train. A flower cluster headpiece held her four-tier veil and she carried a bouquet of white rosebuds, centered with a white orchid.

Marjorie Haxton of Miami, Fla. served as honor attendant in a yellow gown. Attendants were Miss Rosemary Middagh, sister of the bride, and Janice Giddens, both of Miami, Fla. They wore yellow gowns and carried bouquets of yellow and white carnations.

Miss Sheri Lynn Jones served as flower girl. She carried a basket of rose petals.

Robert Jones of Miami, Fla. was best man, and ushers were Richard Waltz and Joseph Mokes, both of Miami, Fla. Philip Waltz served as ringbearer.

A reception for 80 guests was held at La Scala Restaurant, Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

For her wedding trip to Gatlinburg, Tenn., the bride selected a coat-dress outfit.

The bride, a graduate of Miami Edison Senior High School, class of 1966, is employed as a service order clerk for Southern Bell Telegraph and Telephone Company.

Her husband, an alumnus of Edison High School, is employed by Combustion Engineers.

The couple will reside at Miami, Fla.

Eddie Bracken Will Speak at Hyde Park

Eddie Bracken, one of the most versatile performers in the entertainment industry, will be speaking at Hyde Park's Roosevelt High School on Wednesday, April 15, at 8 p. m.

Bracken, who has starred in motion pictures, on Broadway as well as radio and television, has recently formed a new production company and plans to produce a new Broadway show starring Donald O'Connor. It will open in Hyde Park in June.

Bracken, who is appearing on behalf of the Hyde Park Chamber of Commerce and the Hyde Park Playhouse, will be explaining the plans for the future Broadway show and the role the Playhouse will play in the future community activities. An interesting and informative evening is anticipated.

Bechts Celebrate 50th Anniversary

A 50th wedding anniversary dinner party was given Saturday, April 4 at Sawyerkill Country Club, Saugerties, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Becht of Skytop Apartments, Kingston, by their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Francis V. Myer of Mt. Marion.

Mrs. Becht is the former Hazel Silz. The couple was married at the home of the bride in Brooklyn on April 3, 1920. Mr. Becht is a retired construction engineer.

Guests at the dinner included Fred Faulkner, Mrs. Ralph Olson, both of Elmhurst, L.I.; Mrs. Raymond S. Coyle, Ozone Park, L.I.; Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Faulkner, Manhasset, L.I., Dr. Newton Faulkner, Miss Lois Gallagher, both of New Haven, Conn.; Mrs. Warren D. Myer, Mr. and Mrs. William S. Myer, Miss Laurie Hunter, Miss Linda Myer, Douglas Myer, all of Mt. Marion; Ronnie Stevens of Saugerties; and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Meyer of Kingston.

Fellowship Day; Friday, May 1st

Fellowship Day will be celebrated by Church Women United in Kingston at First Baptist Church on Albany Avenue Friday, May 1, together with other units of Church Women United across the nation. This will continue a long tradition of church women across the country to use the first week of May as an emphasis on the creative and healing relations among people in every community. The event will start at 12:30 p. m.

This year's theme "Dissolve the Distance Between . . ." is designated to help close the gaps—whether they be educational, generational, social, racial, or cultural—which perpetrate misunderstanding and inequalities.

In each community task forces have been working preceding the celebration on a particular problem demanding action locally. The task force of Church Women United in Kingston is responding to special needs and gaps relevant to the community, which will be presented as part of the service.

Church Women are also trying to remove barriers between the hungry and the overfed, the women of Latin America and ourselves, those learning to read and those teaching, girls in the Job Corps and their women recruiters, children in India and Africa with no schools, and those Head Start Children without shoes and our own children. Further, church women are keeping their congressional leaders informed on their thinking about foreign aid, old age pensions, education, health. They will continue to inform their state governors as to case stories about wages, discrimination and other inequities.

The Country Wife

By DOROTHY VAN DOREN

What will you have for lunch today? Will it be a sandwich of old newspapers or soup made of methane gas and crude oil? A joke, isn't it? Yes, it is a joke today but in ten years it may not be.

The food on our planet is not, even today, sufficient to feed the world's population. It is estimated that 10,000 people die every day from malnutrition, protein deficiency, whatever it is called. In fifty years, unless there is more food, of a sort we don't have now, the deaths will mount.

Here is where the busy chemists come in. And they are busy indeed, trying to make chemical substitutes for the meat, the grain, the fruits we eat today. Fish, any old fish that nobody eats, the heads, the scales, the fins, the bones, can be ground into a powder called Fish Protein Concentrate that is already being added to familiar foods to increase the protein content. Soy beans are indispensable to the fake food industry. Spun soybean fiber, made to taste like meat, is actually being sold in the northeast. Hospitals, prisons, schools are using it. The jokesters in the trade call it "food of the loom." An imitation turkey loaf is now sold that comes with a plastic wishbone! It is guaranteed to stick in your throat like the real thing but whether you can wish on it the package does not say

Single Cell Protein is one of the laboratory produced foods. It is made up of microorganisms, tasteless, odorless, non-toxic, and edible.

Single Cell Protein offers a shortcut in food processing. Cattle must eat tons of grass to produce a few pounds of protein. Single cell organisms can convert one pound of "waste" material like crude oil, methane gas, old newspapers, and so one, into a given quantity of pure protein. The organisms can be grown in a factory removed from weather changes and insect pests. They never, never need to be sprayed or brought in out of the rain.

So, here it is, folks. "Imitation meat, "fake food," "mock meat." It is on the market now, today, sometimes disguised as "vegetable proteins" — if you see those words on the label in a few years you will know where the old newsprint goes — sometimes actually sold as something called BacCos in its salads. It is made of spun soybean. It obviously won't kill you and as long as you can't tell it from the real thing, what does it matter?

What does any of it matter? The day will come when the ersatz food made from chemicals or microbes or worn-out motor oil will be so cleverly disguised we can't tell it from steak. Later on the need to disguise it will no longer exist. Wasn't it in George Orwell's 1984 that the ever growing chicken heart was cut off in chunks and packaged for the masses? We shall munch our mince of microbes and only if we have a long, long memory dream of a slice of new-baked bread and butter.

Philharmonic Planning 1970-71 Season

The Hudson Valley Philharmonic Orchestra's 12th season will feature a further expansion of activity and an increase in subscription concerts throughout the Mid-Hudson Valley.

Twenty orchestral performances have already been scheduled, according to Claude Monteux, music director of the Philharmonic, including concerts in Middletown, Saugerties and Rockland County in addition to the regular series to be presented in Newburgh, Kingston and Poughkeepsie.

A total of 11 guest artists will participate in the 1970-1971 concert season, in addition to the Community Mixed Chorus directed by Albert G. Hunter, which will be featured in a performance of the Verdi Requiem Mass.

Pianist Rudolf Firkusny will be the first soloist to appear with the orchestra, performing the Schumann Piano Concerto the weekend of Oct. 24 in Middletown, Poughkeepsie and Kingston.

Others slated to perform during the season include bass-baritone William Warfield, violinist Nathan Millstein, pianist Robert Guralnik, violinist Itzhak Perlman, cellist Luis Garcia-Renart and Monteux himself.

Morton Gould will be guest conductor of the Philharmonic in April 1971 in a program featuring "Fall River Legend" and "Soundings," both composed by Gould. The season will also include conducting appearances by composer Stanley Wiener and Edward Simons, concertmaster for the Philharmonic.

Apollo 13 Wives Launch Natural, Extra Pale, Space-Age Mink

By HELEN HENNESSY
NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Tetrazzini had a chicken dish named for her and the Romanoff clan gained a kind of immortality through noodles. But class is what the Apollo astronauts have. It's mink that now bears that name.

A new Emba natural pale mink, first discovered on rancher Gilbert Tuttle's place in Salem, Wis., has been 10 years in development and has been named "Apollo" by the American mink breeders and dedicated to the Apollo moon flights.

On hand for the dedication were Mary Haise and Marilyn Lovell, wives of two astronauts who made Saturday's Apollo flight.

True to their sex, the girls fastened their eyes on the gleaming mink skins and glowed.

"When a woman gets her first mink," Mary Haise said, "she feels like a million dollars."

Marilyn Lovell's comment: "Don't you think mink worn for casual occasions looks just great? Especially with pants."

The next trip after the moon for astronauts James A. Lovell Jr. and Fred Haise may well be to their friendly neighborhood furriers.

When you "think mink," you think fashion. And the girls had very definite opinions on today's clothes.

First, neither one likes the new midi length. They both live near Houston and said that even in Nieman Marcus they didn't see any midis as yet.

Mrs. Lovell feels we let Paris push us into things we really don't like. "I think the American woman should be herself and forget about what Paris dictates," she said.

From time to time, according to Marilyn Lovell, her husband buys her clothes and she likes what he buys—no frills, simple design. "He likes tailored things, even into the cocktail hour," she said.

She was wearing a gold Apollo 8 insignia pin with a diamond. Her husband designed it. "Jim had one made up for me after each of his flights," she said. Her fourth is now coming up.

The Lovells have two boys and two girls, ranging from 11 to 16. The Haises have two boys, 11 and 8, and a 14-year-old daughter. Mary is expecting her fourth child in June.

As parents, they are naturally interested in grooming and fashion for today's young people.

"In our area," Mrs. Haise explained, "the schools have regulations about how long hair can be worn and how short hemlines can climb. And the Maxi skirts are big with the school crowd."

Mrs. Lovell revealed her feeling about flying in space: "I thought Jim's first flight was beautiful and exciting. But each time since I have felt as though I were walking on eggshells.

"Still, he went into the program to land on the moon. So I thank God that he will. I've never seen a man so happy in his job."

The astronauts will be up 10 days this time, and on his return Lovell will have had 31 days in space.

According to the ladies, the food on the space craft has greatly improved. Each man gets what he selects to eat, upon the dietitian's approval. For future flights, there are plans for an oven and a refrigerator for the space craft, complete with TV-type dinners and other goodies.

Does publicity bother the wives of these men? Marilyn, the veteran wife, says no. Once she was startled when a newsman reported that the Lovells had 14 television sets. "They were loaned to us for the occasion," she said.

"I'm too proud of Jim to hide from the press. After the Gemini 12 landing, I went out in front of the house and no one said a word. They simply looked at me in a dazed way.

"So I said, 'If you're not going to ask, I'll TELL you how I feel!' "

NEW MINK wins approval of astronaut wives, Mrs. Fred Haise (C) and Mrs. James A. Lovell Jr. (R) as they admire new Apollo, Emba natural extra pale mink in a triangle scarf by Geoffrey Beene for Don Grossman. Model Fran Healy (L) shows off the $2,000 fashion at the New York Auction Co. where the mink was first sold recently. The astronauts' wives were in New York to accept the dedication of the new mink to the Apollo moon flights.

Gourmet Corner: Officials Tell How to Get Properly Stewed

By TOM HOGE
Associated Press Writer

United Nations officials recently ran a check on national dishes around the world. Of 76 countries polled, more than 40 listed as their national dish some variation of stew.

Not every country calls it by that name. It might be Hungarian goulash, French blanquette de veau or Belgian carbonnade. But in the final analysis, it's stew.

Served swimming in wine sauce from a silver platter or spooned from an earthen pot brimming with potatoes, stew is just about the world's most popular dish.

The entries appearing in the UN survey ranged from President Dwight D. Eisenhower's personal formula for beef stew to Saudi Arabia's Rus Bukhary, a tasty concoction of chicken, rice, onions, carrots and spices. Afghanistan favored a pungent mixture of beef, yogurt, beans and peppers while meat and bean combinations sharpened by tongue-tingling herbs were specialties of the Caribbean countries.

Stew's popularity is enhanced no doubt by the fact that it's very easy to prepare. You just let it simmer awhile, then pluck out a piece of meat and taste. Some cooks actually put in an extra few chunks of meat for just this purpose.

Stew, the oldest form of cookery, no longer means a family catchall for utilizing leftovers. Plush restaurants serve it with pride and guests who sample a family's special stew at a dinner party usually return for more.

Stews tell the story of a nation's diet customs and its homegrown foods. It is not the meat, but the accompanying ingredients that give this dish its national stamp. Potatoes are indispensable in Irish stew, while Italian ragout features macaroni or spaghetti. Scotch stew is known for its barley, and Hungarian goulash would not be complete without the flat, egg-rich noodles.

Stew is linked to the folklore of many nations. My wife, who was born and raised in Brazil, tells of a Sunday custom in rural areas. After church the family gathered to partake of feijoada, a rich mixture of black beans, salt pork, salt beef tongue, dried beef, sausage and bacon and a host of torrid herbs. Old and young sat around the table and helped themselves from a great bowl containing the redolent mixture which had been simmering since early morning. White rice and orange slices give contrast to the main dish.

Latin Americans have a habit of classifying as soup hearty dishes that would pass anywhere else as stew. Ecuador, for instance, offers a specialty called corn soup. The recipe for six persons calls in part for one pound of chopped beef, half a pound of sirloin, eight ears of corn and half a dozen hardboiled eggs!

Since soaring food costs are a major cost in most households, it is refreshing to note that experienced cooks agree that in a stew, expensive cuts of meat usually boil down to tasteless blobs, whereas cheaper cuts tenderize more slowly and retain their flavor.

The dish constantly challenges the innovative mind. There are always new possibilities, such as one suggestion for serving English beef stew in hot borscht, thus blending the specialties of two nations.

Belgium's most famous dish, Flemish Carbonnades, or beef stew cooked in beer, dates back to the Middle Ages. But add somé English walnuts and a couple of spoons of Scotch whisky, and you have quite a different dish.

FLEMISH CARBONNADES WITH WALNUTS

Two and one-half pounds beef chuck, boned neck or thin flank
One-quarter pound smoked ham hock
One-half cup vegetable oil
Two teaspoons salt
One pound onions sliced thin
Two tablespoons flour
Twelve-ounce bottle or can beer
One can beef broth
One-half teaspoon pepper
Two teaspoons sugar
Two tablespoons chopped parsley
One pinch each of majoram, thyme and rosemary
One clove garlic minced
Two carrots sliced into small chunks
Three-quarter cup shelled walnuts
Two tablespoons vinegar
Two tablespoons Scotch whisky

Cut beef into strips about two inches long and one inch thick. Cut ham into half inch cubes. Brown beef and ham hock in oil in large skillet. When browned, lift meat from fat, sprinkle with one teaspoon salt and set aside.

Brown onions in same oil. Lift from oil and place in separate dish. Set aside remaining oil, except about two tablespoons. Stir flour into oil in pan and make light brown roux. Gradually add beer and stir 'til mixture boils. Add broth, rest of salt, pepper, sugar, herbs and garlic.

Arrange alternate layers of meat, onions and carrots in a heavy casserole and add sauce. If needed, add more beer until meat is well covered. Cover casserole and cook in slow oven 300 degrees for two and one-half hours, inspecting from time to time and adding more beer as needed.

Simmer walnuts in leftover oil, shaking pan occasionally 'til crisp. Pour over meat mixture. Just before serving add vinegar and Scotch. Good with ice-cold beer. Serves six to eight persons.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise:

My husband cleaned the paint roller the other day and was looking around for a place to put it so that it could dry.

He came up with a great idea and I thought I would share it with you.

He took a wire coat hanger (the kind the cleaners put his slacks on), removed the cardboard tube and put the roller on the hanger in place of the tube.

It can be hung on a towel rack or on the clothesline to dry.

Best of all no messy handling.

A Reader

Oow-ie, your hubby really came up with a "good un" that time.

And you know you could leave the cardboard insert on, just unhook one end of the hanger and put the roller on and then rehook it. This way it would give a little extra support for the roller.

Great way to store in the garage or utility room. Just hang it on a nail and it would be out of the way and easy to find when needed the next time.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

My worn-out cotton dust mop without any fluff worked wonders as a wax spreader for liquid wax on my hardwood floors.

I did three floors in less time than it usually takes to clean and wax one floor.

No clean-up problem—just wash in washer and hang out to dry.

Dear Heloise:

When you have to keep hot towels on a bruise, or sprained ankle, try this method:

Fill your vaporizer and start it steaming. When the towel begins to cool, just hold it close to the stream of steam and in a minute you have a hot towel.

This will save you time and trouble. Also it keeps your hands out of that hot, hot water.

INSEPERABLE — Gene Littler (l) and Billy Casper tied for the lead at the end of regulation play for the Masters title at Augusta, Ga. The two leaders finished with 9-under-par 279. They will meet in an 18-hole playoff today at 2:15 EST. Neither golfer has ever won the Masters. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Littler, Casper in Tie

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI)—A couple of California neighbors who usually are too busy to get out for a sociable round of golf together finally find the time today—on the rolling green hills of Georgia with the world of golf watching and the Masters championship at stake.

"It took up 72 holes to get rid of those other fellows," said Billy Casper to Gene Littler as they got set for an 18-hole playoff of their 9-under-par 279 tie at the end of the regulation 72 holes on Sunday.

"We only live a couple of brassie shots away from each other," explained Littler. "But I think we've only been able to get together to play a couple of times in the last couple of years—maybe not even that much."

Starting out for their climactic 18-hole showdown over the Augusta National course—plus sudden-death if they should happen still to be tied at the end of that—Casper and Littler both put out of their minds the little mistakes that kept either one of them from winning the $25,000 first prize and the coveted title outright on Sunday.

Casper's mistakes, in a final 1-under-par round of 71, were what he called "two lapses" on earlier holes that cost him a bogey and a double bogey, and then in full view of a big crowd and national TV two nerve-jabbing misses of putts that are practically "gimmes" for the man who is considered perhaps the finest putter in golf—a four-footer on No. 17 and a 10-footer on No. 18.

Either would have meant a birdie and victory. The 10-footer was the more dramatic, for Littler had finished and Gary Player, the only other man with a chance to horn in, could do no better than tie. Casper's putt hit the rim on the right side, spun around the backside and rolled off.

"I thought it was in, but it broke quickly," said Casper. "I putted as well as I could."

Casper actually was more peeved at himself for those two earlier mistakes than for the two missed putts.

"On No. 7 I hit a bad hook out of a bunker and hit a tree," Casper said. "I bounced into a road and once I got out—I had to hit up over the curb—I hit short of the green. The other lapse came on the 11th when I used the wrong club on my second shot, a five-iron, and missed the green long. I had to play over the bunker, and two-putted for a bogey."

Littler also regretted "a couple of weak putts" on the last two holes, but the one shot he'd like to have again on the final round was on the 16th, where he took a bogey four after he had just birdied the long 15th to go 10-under-par and take a one-stroke lead.

"I made a terrible shot," Gene confessed. "I was trying to knock it on the green, but I landed in a bunker instead. I came out 15 feet from the cup, but I two-putted."

The finale matches two of golf's top hands who personally are very similar. Littler, from LaJolla, Calif., is 39, a form : U. S. Open champion (1961), an extremely quiet golf technician whose appproach to the game is so methodical that other players nicknamed him "the Machine."

Casper, who'll be 39 in June, is a two-time former U. S. Open champion (1959 and '66), also extremely quiet, and one of the three men in history to win more than $1 million in professional golf. Both have won many tournaments but neither ever has won the Masters in many tries. Player missed making it a three-way playoff by an inch. After Casper had missed his 10-footer, Player stabbed at one just a shade shorter and missed by an inch to the right. Photographers were working near where he stood and Player said later the grinding cameras bothered him.

"I had to re-grip my putter," said the South African. "I asked the photographers to please just hold it—but they kept turning."

Casper started Sunday with a one-stroke lead over Littler and two over Player, and the tie came after an afternoon-long see-saw battle. First Casper increased his lead with a birdie on No. 4, but then Littler went ahead after Casper's double bogey. Then it turned into a four-way battle among Casper, Littler, Player, and Bert Yancey. Yancey, who had 70, kept trying to break through for a birdie on the back nine but wound up with eight pars and a bogey on No. 18.

Yancey was fourth at 281. Dave Stockton, Dave Hill, and Tommy Aaron tied at 283, while Jack Nicklaus was at 284 and Frank Beard, last year's leading money winner, at 285.

Today's playoff is the first in the Masters since Nicklaus won in 1966.

A-Amateur x-playoff

Hamilton Wins '500'

TALLADEGA, Ala. (UPI)—Young Pete Hamilton is a Yankee who came South to make good and may be well on his way to topping the most famous stock car-driving Yank of all—Fred Lorenzen.

Hamilton, of Dedham, Mass., added a big feather to his cap Sunday by winning a wild and woolly Alabama 500 at Alabama International Motor Speedway. In winning, the 28-year-old rail-thin blond was able to claim victories on the two largest superspeedways — Talladega and Daytona.

He picked up $26,150 in the race, which averaged 152.321 miles per hour.

It is obvious to compare Hamilton with Lorenzen, especially since the young Plymouth driver has made such a splash in his rookie year. But Hamilton doesn't think he is in the Lorenzen class yet—and he admits he looks South for an idol.

"(Lorenzen) has won a lot more races than I have," he said Sunday." I don't think I can compare myself with him.

"I try to be my own driver but if I'd model myself after anyone, it would be Richard Petty. He's a champion."

Hamilton cut a tire and had to make a pit stop early but pressed on and was running right behind Buddy Baker, Charlotte, N.C., when Baker pitted on a green flag. Hamilton also pitted to change his right side tires only and, by the time he got back on the track, he was in a strong position.

But fate eliminated Baker. The Charlotte, N.C. Dodge pilot's car caught fire in the trioval bend, skidded and slipped in front of the grandstands and came to rest with flames visible inside the cockpit.

Baker climbed out his window to cheers which were as loud as those for Hamilton when he wheeled into the winner's circle.

Baker who was treated for second degree burns on his legs and face said "It was the scariest thing that has ever happened to me.

The results:

TALLADEGA, Ala. (UPI)—Results of Alabama 500:

1. Pete Hamilton, Dedham, Mass. $26,150 Plymouth
2. Bobby Isaac, Catawba, N.C. $12,500 Dodge
3. David Pearson, Spartanburg, S.C. $8675 Ford
4. Benny Parsons, Detroit, Mich. $5825 Ford
5. Cale Yarborough, Timmonsville, S.C. $4425 Mercury
6. Freddy Fryar, Baton Rouge, La. $3000 Plymouth
7. Richard Petty, Randleman, N.C. $2500 Plymouth
8. James Hylton, Inman, S.C. $2275 Ford
9. Neil Castles, Charlotte, N.C. $2200 Dodge
10. Coo Coo Marlin, Columbia, Tenn. $2000 Chevrolet

Lakers Beat Hawks

By United Press International.

The Los Angeles Lakers are making a habit of coming from behind in the National Basketball Association playoffs.

The Lakers became the second team in NBA history to overcome a 3-1 deficit in the playoffs when they defeated the Phoenix Suns in the best-of-seven Western Division semifinals.

And on Sunday they overcame a 17-point deficit in the third period to beat the Atlanta Hawks 119-115 in the opening game of the Western finals.

The Lakers went ahead for the first time in the game at 112-111. Jerry West and Elgin Baylor, who led a parade of Los Angeles players to the foul line, sank free throws to make the difference as time ran out.

West hit 18 of 21 free throws and Baylor 14 of 18. The Lakers hit a total of 47 out of 60 free throw attempts.

"In the second half," West said, "it seemed like all we did was shoot free throws. But we always shoot more free throws than the other team when Wilt Chamberlain is in the game. When we passed the ball to Wilt, everybody started breaking. There's an inclination for the other team to look back, and when we take off, they get caught in that split second. The natural move of the man guarding you is to reach back and try to slow you down without getting caught by the officials."

The Hawks were caught 22 times in the second half. When asked why Atlanta committed so many fouls, Hawk coach Richie Guerin said, "You're asking that in the wrong room. Go in there where (referees Manny) Sokol and (Mendy) Rudolph are."

The New York Knicks, already leading Milwaukee 1-0 after a 110-102 victory on Saturday, meet the Bucks in the second game of the Eastern series Monday night in Madison Square Garden.

Rangers Score, Chicago Sweeps

By United Press International

Home or away, it was all the same to the Chicago Black Hawks and Pittsburgh Penguins. But, nobody can blame the Boston Bruins and St. Louis Blues for being slightly homesick today.

The Hawks and Penguins completed four game sweeps of their Stanley Cup quarterfinal series Sunday with impressive road victories. Chicago, which had beaten Detroit in the first three games by identical 4-2 scores, duplicated the feat by ousting the Red Wings in another 4-2 affair while the Penguins were forced into eight minutes of overtime play before eliminating Oakland, 3-2.

Boston and St. Louis, who had taken the first two games of their respective playoffs at home, now find themselves in 2-2 deadlocks as both lost a pair of weekend games on the road. The Bruins were dumped by the New York Rangers, 4-3 and 4-2, while the Blues fell to the Minnesota North Stars, 4-2 and 4-0.

Opposing coaches Sid Abel of Detroit and Billy Reay of Chicago had at least one area of agreement following the conclusion of the Hawks-Wings series.

"I would think Chicago is good enough to win it, the way they're playing now," Abel said. "They played the game the way it's supposed to be played."

"Barring injuries, there's no reason why we can't go all the way," Reay agreed. "It was a good series for us. We worked all the way. Now we can use the rest."

Stan Mikita, who scored the tie-breaking goal for Chicago in the second game, showed again Sunday why he is rated among the best centers in the National Hockey League by scoring one goal and assisting on two others. His goal in the first period was his third of the series and snapped a 1-1 tie.

Chicago's Dennis Hull and Detroit's Nick Libett exchanged second period goals before Chico Maki of the Hawks put the game out of reach with a goal at the 11:26 mark of the third period.

Michel Briere, a 19-year-old rookie, put the finishing touches on the Penguins' sweep over the Seals. Briere rammed a rebound of Val Fonteyne's shot past Oakland goalie Gary Smith at 8:28 of overtime to insure Pittsburgh a spot opposite either St. Louis or Minnesota in the semifinals.

The Penguins, who had only a 2-3-3 regular season record against Oakland while finishing second in the West Division, got goals from Dean Prentice in the first period and Bob Woytowich in the middle session while Carol Vadnais accounted for the Seals' scoring with power play goals in each of the first two periods.

Coaches Harry Sinden of Boston and Emile Francis of New York came to pretty much the same conclusion following the Rangers' second win over the Bruins in as many nights.

"It's a best-of-three series now, that's all there is to it," Sinden said.

"It's a whole new ball game," said an obviously relieved Francis shortly after the Rangers tied the series thanks to a pair of first period goals by Rod Gilbert, a second period tally by Dave Balon and a third period score by Walt Tkaczuk.

Sunday night's game between New York and Boston was a lot more peaceful than the previous evening when every Stanley Cup record for penalties was broken or tied as referee John Ashley handed out 38 penalties good for 174 minutes.

Pacers Set New Record

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)—Jay Miller's fielder with about 20 seconds to go broke the all-time professional basketball record as the Indiana Pacers obliterated the Pittsburgh Pipers 177-135 in an American Basketball Association game Sunday.

The victory by the Pacers, who have sewed up the title in the ABA's Eastern Division, eclipsed the old single-game team scoring record of 173 points set by the Boston Celtics of the National Basketball Association in February, 1959.

Indiana opened strong in the first quarter, and by the end of it built an 18 point lead on a Mel Daniels jumper at the gun.

The Pacers reached a 31 point halftime lead of 87-56 which brought them to within three points of their own ABA halftime record of 90 points. That record was set last year in a game at Los Angeles in which the Pacers also set the ABA game record of 172.

The game peaked when Freddie Lewis tied the 172 record with a lay-in. The 177-135 finish came when Lewis hit two free throws.

Oneonta Team Holds State Lead With 3315

By CHARLES J. TIANO
JIM MASSA.

KINGSTON

Angellotis of Oneonta took over first place in the team handicap division with a 3115 slam, as teams completely scrambled the standings in the second weekend of the New York State Bowling Championships.

Led by Bill Lawyer's 627, the Otsego County squad rolled 2857 in the wood and had 258 pins handicap. The 2857 was good for second place in the scratch division still headed by Al Maroone Ford of Buffalo with 2885.

George Pratt and Sons Lumber of Highland moved into second place with 3019 among the all-new top five in the handicap division. The only change in the scratch division was Angellotis' 2857.

Angellotis entered with an 882 team average, while the Pratt squad was rated at 908.

Al Wood of Kingston took over second place in the net singles with a 683 off games of 269, 202 and 212.

Martin Reisner, the first weekend sensation from Livingston Manor, retained his net singles lead with 717 and handicap with 762. Ken Marshall of Holland Patent took over second with 654-66-720.

Reisner also retained his lead in both divisions of the all-events, with 1932 net and 2,057 in the handicap section.

One of the state's all-time bowling greats — Sam Piraino of Baldwinsville fired 687 and his partner, Nick Raphael added 641, as they took over the net doubles lead with 1340 and handicap with 1340.

The Oneida tandem of Howard Tooke (614) and Howard Metcher (637) combined for second place in handicap doubles with 1332. Larry Cramer (658) and Al Christian (604) of Rochester are third with 1328. The new fourth place tandem is that of Ron Schofield (610) and Garry Schofield (651) of Utica with 1300 even.

Ronnie Legler of Webster moved into third place in net singles with 670. Ken Marshall of Holland Patent is foruth with 654 off 239, 178, 237 and Nick Raphael of Baldwinville posted 652 with 235, 212, 205.

In the handicap singles, Joe Spadaryk of Rochester held third place with 712. Robert Hatch of Syracuse posted 600-111-711 for fourth and Bill Allen Jr. of Rochester fired 613-93-706 for fifth slot.

Otto Ruff, a substitute bowler, rolled a 192 triplicate in the singles event.

None of the hotshot teams scheduled for the weekend rolled anything of consequence. Last year's state champions — Dick Fisher Sporting Goods of Williamsville hit only 2515. The 1969 runnersup — Transit Paving managed 2716.

The three other new leaders in the handicap team division are Bendix Mechanics of Utica with 3016; Riggelman Brothers No. 1, Rome, 3007; and Bonaparte T. A. of Rochester, 3003.

Alcol Realty of Flushing is third in the scratch division with 2821; Huthers Restaurant, Rochester, has 2279 and Val-Ed Paving, Webster, 2778.

North Adams Cagers Rout DeMiccos in Troy Finals

TROY

DeMicco Motors of Kingston took a 124-78 beating at the hands of Unis of North Adams, Mass. in the finals of the Troy YMCA Junior Basketball Tournament. The winners, led by a 24-point performance by Craig Andotti, had six men in double figures.

The Unis squad's back-line averaged 6-5 per-man, Kingston had just two men over the six-foot mark and could only manage 26 rebounds for the contest.

George Stulb kept the Motormen within four points in the first quarter on four straight jump shots. He finished the game with 22 markers. Bruce Stalter and Vin Rua had 21 points apiece for DeMicco's.

Angels, Brewers Hitting Like Mad

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

The California Angels know this can't keep up. The Milwaukee Brewers aren't so sure.

The topic of discussion was hitting, something both teams did a lot of Sunday.

"I thought we'd have more hitting, but you can't honestly expect anything like that," said Lefty Phillips after his unbeaten Angels exploded for five quick runs in the sixth inning and shelled Kansas City 7-5, raising their team batting average to .355.

"I feel great. Now I just have to keep it up," said rookie outfielder Danny Walton, who belted a two-run homer in the opener—his third in two days—and drove in two more runs in the nightcap as the Brewers blasted the Chicago White Sox 5-2, 16-2 and evened their record at 3-3.

It was a stunning display by the two teams that brought up the rear in American League club batting a year ago—the Brewers, then the Seattle Pilots, at .234 and the Angels at .230.

Elsewhere, Detroit ended Baltimore's five-game winning streak 7-2, Washington held off Boston 6-5 and Cleveland edged the New York Yankees 2-1 before losing the nightcap 5-4. Oakland and Minnesota were rained out.

California's four-game winning skein seemed in jeopardy until Roger Repoz walloped a two-run homer and Jim Fregosi slammed a three-run shot to wipe out a 5-2 deficit. Jim Campanis homered for the Royals.

"You've got to be amazed at that kind of hitting," said Phillips.

"I've never seen any club hit like this. Some of the kids like (Bill) Voss, (Aurelio) Rodriguez and (Jay) Johnstone were on the verge of becoming hitters until this year. (Roger) Repoz has been a pleasant surprise and Rodriguez is hitting like heck. I didn't expect that. I don't know where we'll finish, but I think we'll battle for first place. We won't finish any lower than third."

The Brewers also had an enjoyable weekend after dropping their first three starts in Milwaukee uniforms. But Walton gave them the spark Saturday with a pair of two-run homers that wiped out a 4-0 deficit and the Brewers went on to record their first AL triumph.

"Walton started looking good the last 10 or 12 days of spring training and won himself a job. He had a good series. I just hope he can keep it up," said skipper Dave Bristol.

The hitting bug even got to pitcher George Lauzerique, who drove in four runs, three with a homer, and went the route in the nightcap. Outfielder Steve Hovley helped him with a double and two singles for five RBI. Walton connected in the opener.

Joe Niekro, backed by a 13-hit Detroit attack, hurled the Tigers past Baltimore, although he needed last-out help from Tom Timmerman. The Tigers shelled loser Mike Cuellar in a five-run fourth inning.

Washington made the most of six hits—Boston had 15—mainly because Mike Epstein belted a two-run homer and Frank Howard hit two long doubles and drove in two runs. Gerry Moses had a single, double and homer for the Red Sox.

Sam McDowell struck out 10 Yankees and moved past Carl Hubbell into 34th place on the all-time list as Cleveland won its opener. Russ Nagelson provided the winning run with a homer off loser Mel Stottlemyre.

After the Indians tied the second game with two out in the ninth on Danny Cater's bases-loaded, two-run throwing error, the Yankees came back to win it on John Ellis' single and three walks. Mike Paul walked pinch hitter Ron Hansen to force in the winning run. It marked the third time in the game the Yankees scored on a hit and three walks.

Set 16 Swim Records

CINCINNATI (UPI)—"I don't think there's any question that this was the largest, fastest and most productive swimming meet yet."

This was how Meet Director Charles Keating summed up the 1970 National AAU Short Course Swimming championships held at the Keating Natatorium here.

The four-day meet, which started last Thursday and drew nearly 700 of the nation's best swimmers, resulted in 16 new American swimming records out of 30 events and seemed to bear out Keating's remarks.

"We felt it would be a fast meet because this new pool was built to be the fastest," Keating said, "but we never dreamed we would see 16 records broken."

The final night of competition Sunday was no different than the first, with Olympic champion swimmer Debbie Meyer leading the way as she lowered her own record in the women's 1,650-yard freestyle "marathon" swim by 10 seconds with a 16:54.64 performance.

John Kinsella followed suit and picked up his second American record Sunday night in the men's 1,650 event with a 15:35.93, eliminating the record held by Mike Burton. Kinsella previously set a new mark in the men's 500-yard freestyle.

In addition to Kinsella's two record swims, other double record breakers included Brian Job of the Santa Clara (Calif.) Swim Club, Susie Atwood of the Lakewood (Calif.) Aquatic Club, and Gary Hall, the Indiana University star.

Hall set new American records in the men's 200-yard backstroke and the 400-yard individual medley.

Job, a Stanford University freshman, set new marks in the men's 100-yard and 200-yard breaststroke events.

Miss Atwood set her records in the 100-yard and 200-yard backstroke events.

Miss Atwood and Hall were the recipients of this year's Robert J. H. Kiphuth Award as the individual high point winners in the men's and women's competition of the AAU. Both are repeaters from last year.

Coach Jim Haines' Santa Clara club teams outdistanced everyone in total points to capture both the men's and women's AAU Club championships for 1970.

The women's team amassed 327 points to finish ahead of arch-rival Lakewood Aquatic for the third straight year. The men's team picked up 286 points in staying ahead of the University of Southern California.

Keating, looking ahead to bigger and better events at his attractive, fast new facility, indicated that the 1972 Olympic swimming trials may come to Cincinnati.

"We aren't certain yet but we think we have a very good chance of holding the trials here," he stated, smiling.

He was no doubt thinking of the 15,000 people who watched the AAU meet in a town where swimming events go practically unnoticed.

Houston Is Happy With 'Toy Cannon'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Houston's Toy Cannon is behaving like a long range missile again and the rest of the Astro arsenal is following suit.

Jim Wynn, the mini-slugger who smacked 33 home runs for Houston last season, hit a pair of tape-measure shots Sunday as the Astros unloaded five homers—a club record—and whipped Atlanta 8-3.

The muscular, 5-foot-9 outfielder sent Phil Niekro pitches rocketing into the Astrodome's fourth and fifth levels, respectively, before Joe Pepitone, Tommy Davis and Doug Rader completed the long ball binge.

Elsewhere in the National League, Cincinnati swept a double-header from San Francisco 6-5 and 5-2; Pittsburgh downed Philadelphia 3-1 in 10 innings; Montreal blanked the Chicago Cubs 2-0; Los Angeles zipped San Diego 6-0 and the New York Mets beat St. Louis 6-4.

Wynn unloaded into the domed stadium's purple seats in the first inning and hit his second bases-empty homer even farther in the third, reaching the third row of yellow seats.

"I got a little glimpse of both of them," he said. "When you hit a ball that hard, you've got to look."

"I can't believe that Jim hit two homers off Niekro," said Rader, only other Astro ever to homer into the fifth deck—in an exhibition game this spring. "The only way you can hit home runs off Niekro is if he gets behind and throws you a fast ball.

"I guess one he hit was a fast ball, but I know he also hit one off the knuckleball."

The loss was the second in as many decisions this season for Niekro, the Braves' knuckleball ace who won 23 a year ago.

John Bench delivered the deciding run in each game for the Reds, who prevailed at San Francisco despite a seven-hit spree by Giants' rookie Alan Gallagher.

Tony Perez belted four hits, including a pair of homers, for four RBIs in the opener before Bench's run-scoring single in the ninth gave Cincinnati a 6-3 lead. The run stood up despite a two-run San Francisco rally—helped by Bench's error—in the bottom of the ninth.

In the nightcap, Bench's two-run triple in the sixth broke a 1-1 deadlock and the Reds held on behind the pitching of Gary Nolan and Wayne Granger.

Bill Mazeroski, whose eighth inning single drove in Pittsburgh's first run, rapped a tie-breaking two-run homer off Jim Bunning in the 10th. Steve Blass went the distance on the mound for the Pirates.

Montreal won its first game after four setbacks as Bill Stoneman checked the Cubs on three hits and Ron Fairly hit a two-run homer.

The Dodgers, winless in all five previous starts, erupted for four first inning runs, added a pair in the seventh on Bill Grabarkewitz' homer and stymied San Diego on Bill Singer's four-hitter.

New York ace Tom Seaver gave up nine hits, including a Richie Allen homer, and needed late relief help but drove in three Met runs himself with a single and double on the way to his first victory of the new season.

Sickler's, Ray's First Round Winners

KINGSTON

Ray's Chevrolet and Sickler's Delivery posted first round wins this weekend to advance to the semifinals of the Kingston Basketball Tournament. The first round games were played Saturday and Sunday at the Municipal Auditorium.

Saturday, Ray's defeated Naccarato's Insurance of Saugerties, 93-66, while Sunday, the Deliverymen dropped CWA of Newburgh, 73-62.

In other games, Felicello's Pipers beat Boyle's A.C. in the closing seconds, 84-82, while the Paddock Chargers of Poughkeepsie downed the Garden of Eden, 95-73.

Saturday, April 18, at 7 p.m. the Chevies will face the Pipers and in the second game, Sickler's will take on the Chargers. The championship will be decided between the two winners in the 8 p.m. game Sunday, with the consolation tilt starting at 7 p.m.

Ray's had a comparative easy time of it as the Chevies disposed of the Insurancemen. Naccarato's was made up of all-stars from the Saugerties Athletic Association Basketball League and had some fine shooters. However, they couldn't handle the fine teamwork of the Kingston squad and fell behind 35-29 in the first half.

Rod Chando was the leading scorer for the winners, hitting 21 points, while Bob Bondar and Frank Roselli hit 20 apiece. Ray Lindhorst was a tiger off the boards and finished with 15 markers, while Mike Dee directed the floor game for Ray's, handing out the assists and dropping in 11 points.

Warren Grittman led the Naccarato's quintet with 23 points, however, the aggressive Chevie defense held the rest of the squad below double figures.

Trailing at half-time, 28-27, the Deliverymen "blew the doors off" in the third quarter, out-scoring the Newburgh club, 27-13, taking a 54-41 lead and were never headed after that. The CWA squad, made up of former Newburgh Free Academy and college greats, came back with 21 points of their own in the final stanza, but couldn't come close to making up the third-period deficit.

Ed Strong, St Peter's College star, paced the winners with 20 points and had quite a few rebounds. Tony Pough flipped in 18, while Jerry Moss had 14 and Gary Kirkwood 12.

Jesse McClaren was high for the losers with 15 and Bob Daniel chipped in with 14 and Marty Kemp, 12.

The Piper's-Boyle's tilt was a real dog-fight with neither team being able to take a good lead. John Sileno fired home a jump-shot from 30 feet out as, the buzzer sounded, providing the margin of victory for the Pipers. Sileno, voted the Most Valuable Player in the Poughkeepsie City League, finished the game with 11 points.

Steve Aurigemma, former Marlboro High School star, led a well-balanced attack for the winners with 22 points, while 6-8 Greg Ludwig of West Virginia had the same total for the losers.

Bill Gray and Dick O'Neill added 19 apiece for the Pipers, while Joe Turck hit 19 for the Boyle's Five.

The Paddock Chargers appeared to have their hands full, trailing the Garden of Eden, 14-13 at the end of the first period. However, the runners-up to the Pipers in the Poughkeepsie City League, outscored the locals, 35-20 in the second quarter for a 48-34 halftime advantage.

Frank Horne was outstanding for the losers, hitting 30 points, but Gay Powell, for NFA star, led a balanced Charger-attack with 17.

DCSL Again Bars Kingston

Rebuffed for the third time in five years by the Dutchess County Scholastic League (DCSL) Athletic Director William J. (Bill) Hurley of Kingston High said today that he would keep "hammering on the door."

I'll just re-submit the application and try afain," said Hurley, pointing out the DCSL's recent formal action necessitates a formal re-submission of the Kingston application.

"In the other instances," he pointed out, "the motion was to table the Kingston application. This time it was different. They actually voted (10-2) to reject the application."

Meeting in Wappingers Falls, the DCSL brass made short shrift of the recommendations of the Realignment Committee.

Under the committee's proposal the Central Section (big schools) of the DCSL would have been divide into two divisions, A and B.

The A division would have included Kingston, Newburgh, Middeltown, Poughkeepsie and Arlington. Assigned to the B division were Roosevelt, John Jay, Roy C. Ketcham, Saugerties, Our Lady of Lourdes and Beacon.

Only Saugerties High and Millbrook High voted in favor of admission of the three DUSO teams — Kingston, Newburgh and Middletown.

"No" votes were cast by Arlington, Beacon, John Jay, Ketcham, Poughkeepsie and Roosevelt. All other schools abstained from the voting. Under DCSL rules, abstentions are counted as "no" votes.

Hurley expressed disappointment in the DCSL action, but felt Kingston's chances would be improved if the Dutchess officials considered the applications individually and not as a "package deal."

"Newburgh and Middletown are more geographically oriented toward the Orange County League," he explained. "On the other hand travelling distances between Kingston and member DCSL schools would be considerably shorter."

Hurley also noted that "we now play several DCSL schools in many sports and had received some encouraging reports from the athletic directors. But the school superintendents vote on these matters and that could have made the differnce."

Section 9 officials will consider the recommendations of its Realignment Committee at a meeting at Monroe-Woodbury on April 30. "Maybe something can be done at that time," said Hurley, who didn't sound too optimistic.

The DUSO League, as such remains intact with three schools — Kingston, Middletown and Newburgh — participating in football. Port Jervis High will compete in the Orange County League next season.

Kingston has completed its 1970 football schedule with the addition of New Rochelle, Hurley said. Listed on the 1970 slate, in order, are: Troy High, Linton of Schenectady, Gloversville, Poughkeepsie, Middletown, Amsterdam, New Rochelle and Newburgh Academy on Nov. 14.

The traditional Kingston-NFA Thanksgiving Day game is no more.

UCCC—Blizzard of Singles

KINGSTON

Ulster County Community College buried its old basketball rival—Manhattan CC of New York City—under a blizzard of singles, 17 to 1, Saturday for its second win in three baseball starts.

The lopsided victory, built on 20 singles, a triple and double, inspired Coach Al Di Bernardo to coin a masterful piece of understatement.

"We just concentrated on meeting the ball" said the veteran UCCC mentor. "We disregarded the long ball and went for the basehits."

Backed up by Bruce Hornbeck's fine 4-hitter, the strategy was impeccable. While the former Ellenville High star, checked the New Yorkers on seven strikeouts, the suddenly aroused Senators glitzed 20 singles to go with a double by Mike Patrick and triple by Jerry Rossner.

The assault on two Manhattan pitchers—Vic Lynch and Pete Rallis—sent the Ulster team batting average soaring to an incredible .350.

Averages Skyrocket

Batting averages mushroomed like ants on a picnic sandwich. Gary Schatzel, the slick fielding first baseman, collected five hits in six trips. Gregg Rios slammed four singles, Rossner added three singles to his triple and Harry Lyons stroked three singletons.

Hornbeck lost his shutout in the seventh inning, when catcher Larry Trippodo fired a ball into centerfield on an attempt steal by Manhattan.

The Senators scored in six of their eight turns at bat and reserved their biggest explosion for the sixth inning when they scored 10 times.

Rap Eight Singles

In that wild inning, the Senators clustered eight singles, a double and three walks. Rios, Trippodo, and Schatzel each collected two singles. Patrick had a walk, double and steal, Lyons walked and Corrado and Rossner delivered a single each.

The 17 runs scored by Ulster represent a new school record. "We put everything," said DiBernardo in another bit of understatement.

The Senators are scheduled to play Orange Community Tuesday at 2 p.m.

Cortland Hurlers Double Zip Hawks

NEW PALTZ

"We were simply overpowered," said New Paltz State baseball coach Joe Owens viewing the shambles of a disastrous opening weekend against the powerhouse Cortland State baseball team.

Cortland's pitchers — All-SUNYAC Fred Bruntrager and Mike White and Bob Campi—limited the Hawks to exactly one hit in the two seven-inning contests here Saturday.

Bruntrager, who looks like a major league prospect, hurled a no-hit, no-run, 9-0 victory in the second game, after White and Campi had combined for a one-hit shutout to capture the opener, 14-0.

"It was the second time Bruntrager has no-hitted us in two seasons," said Coach Owens. Bruntrager, a 5-foot-11 southpaw out of Freeport, L.I., struck out 12, didn't walk a man and faced only 24 batters. Three Hawks got on base via errors.

The Hawks' only hit during the long afternoon was delivered by second baseman Bruce Feltinghoff, off starter Mike White in the first game. White pitched five innings and Campi the last two.

Oscar Kvelland, the basketball star, pitched the first game for New Paltz and Tom Williams of Rondout worked the nightcap.

Cortland had two standout hitters in Bill Torre, a catcher batting in the leadoff spot, and Bob Doyle, the third baseman.

Doyle slugged three hits in each game, including three doubles. Torre slammed two triples, a double and single in nine times to the plate.

The Hawks are at Siena College Tuesday and return home for a Thursday game with Brockport.

Holzman Acclaimed NBA Coach of Year

NEW YORK (UPI)—William "Red" Holzman, who guided the New York Knicks to their most successful season in history, was named National Basketball Association Coach of the Year today by a panel of writers.

Holzman received 17 votes from the 40-man committee in the eighth annual poll. He became the first New York coach to win the honor. Joe Mullaney of Los Angeles was second with nine votes, followed by Richie Guerin of Atlanta and Larry Costello of Milwaukee with five each.

The Knicks took their first Eastern Division title in 16 years and set a club record with 60 victories. They won 23 of their first 24 games for the fastest start in NBA history and had an 18-game winning streak in the process.

"We were picked as the team to beat, the team of the future, the greatest lineup ever," said the Knicks' Dave DeBusschere, who used to be a player-coach with Detroit. "Most coach of the year winners come from nowhere to win it with no pressure on them from the start of the season, but Red's major hurdle was blending everybody together to get the most out of each man. The 18-game winning streak gave us confidence. We knew we could play Red's way and win."

Holzman took over as New York coach in the middle of the 1967-68 season when the club was foundering with a 15-22 record and guided it to a winning season with 43 victories and 39 losses. In his second season, the Knicks had a 54-28 record and this year they were 60-22.

Wawarsing Wins Pistol Match

ACCORD

Led by John Tverdak's 282, the Wawarsing Sportsmen's Association pistol team posted an excellent 1090 total to defeat the New Paltz women's team, Matchmates, 1090 to 940. Kitty Samuels led the Matchmates with 266.

Despite Ernie Muller's 277, the Wawarsing squad dropped its final match of the season, 1082-1082 to the Kingston Pistol Club. Frank Steltz led Kingston with 273.

The scores:

Wawarsing (1090)—Ernie Muller 274, John Tverdak 282, John Lyons 261, Norman Dewire 273; Matchmates (940)—Kitty Samuels 266, Joan Freeman 231, Sarah Chika 226, Marilyn McSheehey 217.

Wawarsing (1082)—Norman Dewire 276, Ernie Muller 277, John Tverdak 272, John Lyons 257; Kingston (1083)—Frank Steltz 273, Earl Buton 271, Hugh Helsley 270, George Seymour 269.

Milton Man Pays $25 Fine On Harassment

MARLBORO

Accused of following a 13-year-old girl on streets of this community at 8 p.m. Sunday, 50-year-old George Bolduc of South Road, Milton, was arrested by State Trooper J. E. Hornbeck of Highland on a charge of harassment.

Bolduc was arraigned before Marlboro Town Justice Patrick Mataraza. He pleaded guilty and was fined $25.

In another case investigated by State Police, Vincent Manna, 36, of Willow Tree Road, Saugerties, was arrested on warrants issued by Judge Mataraza charging the man with third degree assault and two counts of harassment. Troopers said Manna, separated from his wife who resides here, was arrested on complaint of his wife.

Judge Mataraza released Manna pending a hearing at a later date.

Wife Charges Husband With Harassment

KINGSTON

Ignazio M. Borsino, 18, of 233 Tremper Avenue, was arrested Saturday on a charge of harassment following an incident at that address. He was scheduled to appear in City Court before Judge Hubert A. Richter.

Police reports noted the complaint was made by the defendant's wife, Maryann, who accused him of annoying and threatening her.

Cyclist Hurt In Mishap at Paltz College

NEW PALTZ

James Doagone, of 119 Lawson Avenue, Rockaway, was seriously injured Saturday afternoon when the motorcycle he was operating went out of control and flipped over on the grounds of State University College.

Doagone, described as a student, was taken to Kingston Hospital by Fatum's ambulance suffering severe injuries of the left leg, an attendant reported.

Drop Draft Case

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Justice Department says it will ask the U.S. District Court in Boston Monday to drop charges against the Rev. William Sloane Coffin Jr., chaplain of Yale University, and Mitchell Goodman, the author, for allegedly counseling young men to evade the draft.

The 1st U.S. Circuit Court reversed convictions of Dr. Benjamin Spock, the pediatrician, and Michael Ferber, a Harvard University graduate student, but remanded for new trial the case against Coffin and Goodman.

1,000-to-1-Odds

BOSTON (UPI) — Thieves raided a hotel room over the weekend and made off with two violins. They pawned them for $35.

One violin was a 1742 Guarnerius worth $15,000 and the other was a 1767 Stradivarius worth $20,000.

Police found them Saturday night, about 24 hours after they were stolen from Mr. and Mrs. Kensley Rosen of the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra.

War Tax Boycott

NEWTON, Mass. (UPI)—A group of housewives announced Sunday they would make a "mass nonpayment of telephone taxes" in protest against the Vietnam War.

Mrs. Susan Webster, one of the organizers, said the 10 per cent federal excise tax on interstate telephone calls supports the war effort. She said the women will pay their bills without the tax and give the rest to local educational institution.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS
NEW YORK STATE CONSERVATION DEPARTMENT
SITE IMPROVEMENT
NEW PALTZ REGIONAL HEADQUARTERS
VILLAGE OF NEW PALTZ, ULSTER COUNTY, STATE OF NEW YORK

Sealed proposals will be received by the undersigned, at the office of the New York State Conservation Department, if hand carried, Bureau of Finance, 50 Wolf Road, Sixth Floor, Albany, New York; if mailed the New York State Conservation Department, Bureau of Finance, Albany, New York 12201 until 11:00 a.m., April 30, 1970, for the following work at the New Paltz Regional Headquarters, Ulster County, New York and will be publicly opened and read at the time mentioned at the 50 Wolf Road, Albany, New York address.

The work shall consist of furnishing all labor, materials, and equipment required for the earthwork, drainage, paving and fencing as shown on the plans and as stated in the specifications.

Plans, specifications and proposal forms may be obtained from W. A. O'Brien, Director of Accounts, New York State Conservation Department, Albany, New York 12201 upon payment of a fee of ten dollars ($10.00). No refund of this fee will be made to any person. Checks should be made payable to the New Yok State Conservation Department.

The specifications and plans may be inspected at:

EMPLOYMENT

ATTENTION JOB APPLICANTS
The Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept Help Wanted ads from employers covered by the Fair Labor Standards Act if they offer less than the legal minimum wage or fail to pay at least time and one-half for overtime hours. The minimum wage for employment covered by the FLSA prior to the 1966 Amendments is $1.60 an hour with overtime pay required after 40 hours a week. Jobs covered as a result of the 1966 Amendments require $1.30 an hour minimum with overtime pay required after 40 hours a week. For specific information contact the Wage and Hour Office of the U. S. Department of Labor, 331 Gerard Ave., Bronx, N. Y. 10452, WYandotte 2-1235.

IMPORTANT NOTICE: The New York State Law against Discrimination and the Federal Civil Rights Act of 1964 prohibit discrimination in employment because of sex unless based on a bona fide occupational qualification. Help Wanted and Situation Wanted advertisements are arranged in columns captioned "Male" and "Female" for the convenience of readers and are not intended as an unlawful limitation or discrimination based on sex.

Salesmen—Full Time

WE SEEK A MAN WITH AMBITION

We're looking for a man with confidence in his ability to earn substantially more than his present job offers . . . who believes in the future because he believes in himself . . . who by helping people in the booming educational field will also be helping himself.

As our international company continues its tremendous growth, our need for salesmen with ambition continues. Our national advertising produces potential students by the thousands and we need men to call on these people—NOW.

Famous Artists, Writers and Photogrpahers Schools . . . The Famous Schools of Westport, Connecticut, offer America's most distinguished faculty including: Norman Rockwell, Jon Whitcomb, Rod Serling, Bennett Cerf, Faith Baldwin, Richard Avedon, Bert Stern, Irving Penn.

Now in addition to these 3 renowned courses Famous Schools has added the new, exciting Famous Artists Course for talented YOUNG people.

The men selected will earn a very high income—in commissions—the very first year. Many of our men increased their income 100%, the first year and while enjoying a prestige career. They work only qualified leads. Full company benefits including major medical and company paid insurance.

The ideal man is over 25, owns a car, and can do some traveling.

Please give us complete details about yourself including telephone number. Write or wire today to:
Mr. Bill Crothers
308 West Maple Ave.
Newark, N.Y. 14513

SALESMAN
If you're a man who knows he can sell . . . willing to work hard . . . and able to work smart . . . here's an outstanding opportunity with leading distributor. Most of our salesmen earn between $12,000 and $25,000 per year, some higher. Solid, repeat-type business, selling chinaware, glassware, silverware, paper goods, furniture, kitchen equipment and maintenance supplies to hotels, restaurants, clubs, hospitals, schools, etc. Good drawing account, advertising and supervisory support, full company benefit program. Established territory in the Kingston, Newburgh, Port Jervis, Liberty, Catskill, N.Y.; Pittsfield, Adams, Turners, Holyoke, Springfield, Mass. area.

Dear Abby

Learns 'by the Book'

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

(© 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: My fiance wants to be fully prepared for marriage so he is trying to get all the information possible beforehand. He has stacks of books on the subject, and he runs to every movie there is to get more information. I try to tell him that Adam and Eve didn't have any lessons and they managed, but he says so many marriages fail because of bungling and wrong techniques that he is fearful.

He says he is curious but not yellow. And I had to teach this man how to kiss! Do you think all this information is necessary?

M.A.

DEAR M. A.: If HE thinks it is, it is.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Our first baby (I'll call her "Pamela") was born so hopelessly retarded she had to be placed in a institution. We visited her a few times, but she didn't know us anyway, so we just quit going. After a while we just put Pamela and everything about her out of our minds. At least we tried.

We have three healthy children now and none of them knows about Pamela's existence, and my husband agrees there is no point in telling them.

We live in a different neighborhood now, and no one here knows about Pamela, however, we are still in the same city, and plenty of people knew about her when she was born.

I worry night and day that someone who knows about Pamela will say something in front of our children. We've been able to protect them so far, but how can we be sure they will niver find out?

I am a nervous wreck from worrying about this. Can you please say something to reassure me? I can 't sign my name and please don't mention my town.

PAMELA'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: From what are you trying to "protect" your normal children? The knowledge that they have a retarded sister? You need to re-examine your thinking, Mother. Retarded children are neither uncommon nor "disgraceful." They appear in the best of families. I suggest that you tell your children about Pamela. And the sooner the better.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: There are lots of women like the one "MAD AT ME IN ALBUQUERQUE" resented for pushing ahead of her in the checkout line of a grocery store. But there are many courteous people who don't shove in ahead of others.

In fact, I cannot begin to count the times a woman (I am a man) has asked me to step ahead of her in line when I'm standing there with only one item in my hand. In such cases, I always have the exact change ready, and also help her unload her cart.

Which reminds me! Who was the merchandising genius who dreamed up the idea that the cashier should lean clear across the counter plus the customer's cart to struggle with a 15-pound ham, while the lard-rump dame just stands there looking into space?

JUST WONDERING

DEAR JUST: Good question.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Thank you so much for your few kind words in defense of homosexuals. I am the mother of one, and I live in fear that one day he may take his own life. Most homosexuals feel that they were born that way and are not the product of their environment.

Please ask any one of your medical experts how easy it would be for him to turn himself into a homosexual if society demanded it.

I hope and pray that some day there will be a medical cure for these poor persecuted individuals.

SAD MOTHER

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

* * *

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

Jean Adams'

TEEN FORUM

DODGE: (Q.) My best friend comes over nearly every night. She says she comes to see me but it's really to see my brother. If my mother is out, which is often, I have to sit there and watch them. It makes me feel awful. I've tried to tell my friend in a nice way I don't like it. Help!—Bored and Upset in Kenosha, Wis.

(A.) She is not your friend. She is hurting you and you may have to hurt her a little. But don't hesitate. Tell her you want off the hook. Tell your brother, too.

Tell them no more of their house parties on your time. Tell your brother to date her the regular way, at her house, if he wants to. Some people you have to talk plain to.

If, after you've told them, they try to keep on with their subterfuge at your expense, tell your mother what's going on.

DEATH TALK: (Q.) My boy friend has been talking about going to Vietnam to get himself killed. Last week he joined the reserves. How can I stop him from going over there and getting killed?—Thank You for Your Understanding in Boston.

(A.) If your boy friend really wants to get killed, there are quicker ways than to join the reserve. He seems to be dramatizing some protest or some other worry that is chewing on him.

Be kind and understanding with him, and try to get him to talk about what is bothering him.

Sometimes when we talk about the things that worry us, we are better able to face them. Sometimes they just go away.

(Want personal answers to your questions? Write to Jean Adams, Box 2402 Houston, Texas 77001. Only letters that include a stamped, self-addressed envelope will be answered.)

CARROLL RIGHTER'S horoscope

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You find you are able to merchandise or otherwise put across whatever ideas or wares you have at this time. Don't delay. Start the week right by getting your affairs on a well-rounded plan for the future. It is an ideal time to plan your financial future.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Taking care of necessary chores at home will please the family. Make your surroundings as clean and as comfortable as you can. Begin the new week constructively. Take stock of all around you.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20): Don't neglect keeping those important appointments, running errands, etc. See to it that everything around you operates efficiently. Be with good friends for a sociable time.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Think in terms of greater abundance in the future for that feeling of well being. Listen to what an adviser has to suggest. Be ambitious and you get ahead quickly.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21): Plan how to have more enjoyment with friends at whatever your taste is in amusements. Do whatever you can to improve your appearance. Be cheerful.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): Taking part in activities that give you deep satisfaction is fine. Be objective about problems that others bring to you for solving. Don't get so personally involved that you later regret the whole thing.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): Some desire you have had for a long time can now be realized provided you play your cards right. Then out for some recreation with those you like. Be careful when you walk or drive.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Get an early start today and work on those good ideas you have so that you have more success in your career. A bigwig doesn't say much but is interested in your welfare. Make a good impression on him or her.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): You have fine ideas and can get along nicely with progressive persons you have met recently. Be sure to take advantage of opportunities that help you to succeed. Show that you are interested in others.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Put aside recreation and get busy on that important work that concerns others. The evening is then fine for romance. Be sure you appreciate the cultural differences of others.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Be particularly thoughtful of business allies and friends. Try not to be greedy about your share of profits. Show that you appreciate being associated with them.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): You have a great deal of work ahead of you but if you get to it quickly, you get much of it done constructively. Clear up those debatable points with partners. Be clever.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Plan to spend some time with friends you have been neglecting lately. Pay that compliment to your mate. Stop teasing. Avoid those persons who like to waste too much of your time.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be one of those rare youngsters who will have the ability to reduce huge projects to a workable and practical basis. Be sure to give the finest education you can. Prepare this youngster for what can be a most brilliant future. Teach early to take advantage of every opportunity. Your child should be encouraged not to give in to emotions so much.

Report Viet Pullout Well Ahead of Plan

SAIGON (UPI) — The U. S. command said today that President Nixon's third phase withdrawal of 50,000 American troops had been more than fulfilled last week, well ahead of schedule.

This announcement coincided with official field reports that North Vietnamese troops besieging Dak Seang shot down an American helicopter Sunday, the seventh aircraft lost there.

Military spokesmen said U.S. troop strength as of last Thursday had fallen to 429,200, the fewest Americans in the war zone since March 31, 1967. Nixon's program had called for no more than 434,000 troops in the war zone by April 15.

The President is expected to announced more withdrawals in a statement on the war on Thursday.

The commander of the 11 provinces around Saigon conceded there may be risks connected with further troop pullouts in Vietnam but said the Vietnamization program had a better than 50-50 chance of working.

"In my opinion, the ARVN (Army of the Republic of Vietnam) forces are really firming up," said Lt. Gen. Julian J. Ewell, commander of the Army's II Field Force.

In the field, ground fire shot down four American helicopters Sunday, killing two Americans. One of the copters was downed four miles southwest of the besieged Green Beret fortress of Dak Seang but the crew was rescued.

Twin-engine Caribou transport planes dropped another 12,000 pounds of ammunition, food and water to the defenders of the camp, surrounded by perhaps as many as 10,000 North Vietnamese troops.

Meanwhile, the Associated Press reported from Phnom Penh, that Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops made new attacks Sunday on two towns along Highway One near the South Vietnamese border, Radio Phnom Penh announced.

The broadcast reported an attack on Prasaut, the fourth in the past week, and another on Kompong Trabek, 35 miles to the west, which has been the scene of fighting in the last two days.

Military sources reported earlier that the Cambodian troops had withdrawn to a point just west of Prasaut after fighting Saturday night. The Viet Cong then were reported on three sides of the town but had not entered it.

The Cambodian government has concentrated most of its forces in the area in Svay Rieng, the provincial capital almost midway between Prasaut and Kompong Trabek on Highway One. Refugees also have been flooding into the town.

Radio Phnom Penh reported attacks in two other areas—west and northeast of Svay Rieng—where the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese for years have moved freely back and forth across the border.

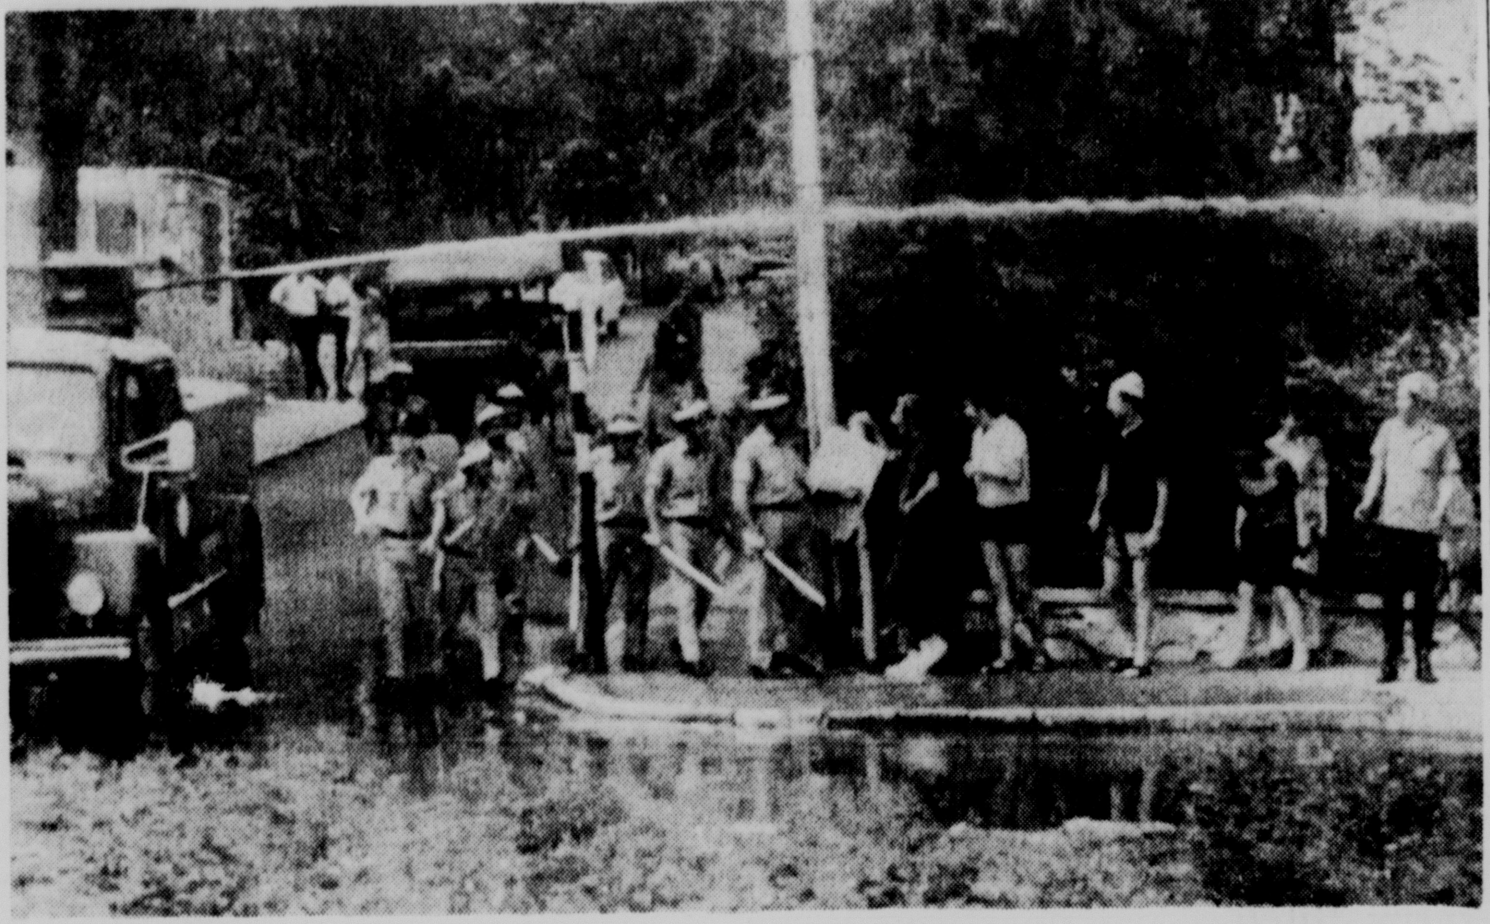
The broadcast said one assault was made on an outpost at Snuol, in eastern Cambodia adjoining War Zone C in South Vietnam and 85 miles north of Saigon. Another attack was reported on a post on the west bank of the Mekong River in Kandal province near the Plain of Reeds.

The government radio said both these attacks were made "with the active participation of Vietnamese residents" but gave no other details.

The charge was in a line with a government campaign to whip up sentiment against the 600,000 Vietnamese living in Cambodia. Gen. Lon Nol's "salvation government" staged a massive nationalist rally in Phnom Penh Saturday, heavy with martial and anti-Vietnamese overtones. The rally was broadcast over national radio and television.

Planes dropped leaflets on the capital recalling ancient hatreds of the Vietnamese who "massacred the Cambodians."

Thousands of Vietnamese have recently been rounded up for investigation by the army; hundreds are being kept in detention camps under armed guard.



WATERED DOWN — Israeli police use water cannons mounted on trucks to disperse student demonstrators outside the residence of Israeli Premier Mrs. Golda Meir. Israeli Planes Raid Nile Delta Sector

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli warplanes raided the Nile Delta today for the first time in five days, hitting an area southwest of Cairo and another in the northeast part of the delta, the Israeli military command announced.

A spokesman said all planes returned safely after hitting military targets about 25 miles southwest of Cairo and at El Manzala, on the shore of Lake Manzala 12 miles southwest of Port Said.

Israel's air force had not been beyond the Suez Canal since last Wednesday, when Egypt claimed that 36 Egyptian schoolchildren were killed in a raid on a village in the northeast delta. Israel said only military targets were hit, and if any schoolchildren were casualties, it was because the Egyptians had them in a military area.

The Israeli command also reported that one of its soldiers was killed in artillery exchanges between Egyptian and Israeli forces in the southern sector of the Suez Canal.

American sources in Cairo said the U.S. State Department's top man for the Middle East, Asst. Secretary of State Joseph J. Sisco, had a "cordial" meeting with Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser Sunday and that each explained his government's policies "in depth."

It was the first high-level official American contact with Nasser since Sisco's predecessor, Lucius Battle, visited Cairo in the last days of the Johnson administration. Sisco will also visit Israel, Jordan and Lebanon, then meet U.S. ambassadors in the Middle East in Tehran.

Presumably Sisco told Nasser what he told airport newsmen on his arrival—that the United States "supports fully" the U.N. resolution of November 1967 for settlement of the Arab-Israeli conflict and supports this "in all its parts, all its provisions and all its principles."

This would include Israeli withdrawal from territory occupied in 1967 as Egypt and other Arab countries demand. It also would mean an end to Arab belligerence against Israel and an Arab agreement to "secure and recognize boundaries" for Israel.

Sisco's meeting with Nasser came on the heels of President Nixon's decision to hold in abeyance further shipments of U.S. Phantom and Skyhawk jets to Israel.

This reflected Washington's own appraisal, echoed by Nasser Sunday night, that Israel still enjoys military superiority in the area.

Nasser apparently felt obliged to make such an admission despite the reported arrival in Egypt of new Soviet-made antiaircraft missiles designed to protect the Egyptian capital and other important areas from low level aerial attack.

L.A. Teacher Strike Looms

LOS ANGELES (AP) —The nation's second largest school system sought to keep running in spite of an expected teachers' strike today.

Supt. Robert Kelly said he would keep all possible classes in the 616 schools open with nonstrikers, 2,000 substitute teachers and supervisors.

Robert Ransom, president of the United Teachers of Los Angeles, the union representing 22,000 of the district's 25,000 teachers, asked Kelly to close the schools.

"Poor education is worth less than no education at all," Ransom told newsmen Sunday. "It is better to close down the system and hope the public comes to our aid. My hope is that the parents and taxpayers will rally behind the UTLA to pressure the state legislature to give the district more money."

The union and the district agree that only the state can provide the money necessary to meet even part of the teachers' demands for more pay, smaller classes, class aides and such improvements as carpeting, air conditioning and soundproofing.

"I don't think the teachers are so much interested in dollars as in improving the school system," Ransom said.

Union leaders said when futile 11th-hour negotiations ended Friday that thousands of teachers would stay out until the end of the school year if necessary. But some teachers told newsmen they expected to stay out only a few days to demonstrate their dissatisfaction.

On April 4 the teachers rejected an offer of a 5 per cent increase over the present annual salary range of $7,320 to $13,650. The district said it faced a $40 million deficit already and would need half a billion dollars to meet all the demands.

About 12,000 of the 18,000 teachers who cast ballots last week voted to strike. The union, backed by several labor organizations, the American Federation of Teachers and the National Education Association, offered strikers interest-free loans of up to $1,000.

State legislators say they can't act immediately to ease the district's financial crisis because a proposition on the June 2 primary ballot leaves the next move up to the voters. The proposition would raise the state's share of school costs from the present 35 per cent to 50 per cent.

No Name Village--- And No One's There

NO NAME VILLAGE, Cambodia (AP) — "The Viet Cong came and took the Vietnamese villagers away from here, that's why there is no one here," the Cambodian captain said, snapping at the flies with his braided oxwhip.

His two companies of troops moved through the village on the Prek Trabek River where mostly Vietnamese had lived. They searched the small thatch huts, then put matches to the tinder-dry walls.

The captain, flicking his whip, said he didn't know the name of the village. None of his troops did either, and it really didn't matter. In their eyes all the Vietnamese villagers were Viet Cong.

One soldier, carrying a basket full of small items taken from a house, pointed at the river and chattered nervously. A body was drifting slowly downstream on its back. It was a Vietnamese man in civilian dress, and he appeared to be still alive although wounded.

The soldiers began to unlimber their AK47 rifles, but the man twitched convulsively and turned on his face. "Viet Cong, Viet Cong," the troops said, but didn't waste a shot. The man had died.

The captain said there had been a battle in No Name Village earlier in the morning. Two Cambodian villagers who cautiously returned described in sign language how Viet Cong and Cambodian forces had clashed in the village. There were no casualties on the Cambodian side, however, and the Viet Cong withdrew to another village three miles downstream.

While some of the troops set the looted houses ablaze, others cautiously probed the numerous reinforced bunkers that the Vietnamese had built beneath their houses. The captain said the Viet Cong had tried to entrench themselves in the village by fighting from the bunkers.

Down a dusty wagon path which wound under leafy shade trees, the troops formed a skirmish line before a large Catholic church, the pride of the village. They set up a machine gun and fired repeated bursts through the closed wooden doors. Then the troops moved inside, sacked it and set it afire.

The roof collapsed in a roar and the life-size statues of the Virgin Mary and Joseph could be seen through the flames.

Douglas Foes Ready to Move

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Critics of Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas plan to move against the 71-year-old jurist sometime this week. They may demand impeachment or organize a pre-impeachment investigation.

Rep. William O. Scott, R-Va., said legislation would be introduced in a few days relating to Douglas' case; but he did not specify exactly what it would attempt to do. Other House sources said foes of the judge were trying to decide whether to propose an impeachment resolution or to form a special bipartisan investigation to see if such a resolution is warranted.

Douglas has come under renewed criticism for his recent book "Points of Rebellion," in which he stated "violence may be the only effective response in dealing with the so-called establishment." He has been under attack for several years for his court opinions on obscenity, and more recently, for his former ties with a charitable foundation that drew financial support from Las Vegas gambling interests.

Organizers of the attack on Douglas have said it was not prompted by the Senate's rejection of President Nixon's two recent Supreme Court nominees —Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr. and Judge G. Harrold Carswell. But Vice President Spiro T. Agnew said during the weekend:
